Nassau Site Of Macmillan, JFK Meeting

World Leaders To Confer Next Month In Bahamas

By JAMES CARY

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will meet in the Bahamas — probably in Nassau — Dec. 19 and 20 for a far-ranging review of world affairs.

The White House, announcing this Tuesday, did not specify Nassau as the site but a spokesman noted that presidential press secretary Pierre Salinger is in Nassau.

Salinger and other White House aides normally visit presidential conference locations in advance to make arrangements. London press reports also stated that a British Foreign Office official flew to Nassau a few days ago.

Sixth Conference

The meeting, unofficially forecast since last week, is the sixth between Kennedy and Macmillan and comes at a time Western strategists have called an "important turning point" in East-West relations.

Macmillan will arrive almost immediately after a scheduled conference with President Charles de Gaulle of France and Kennedy will have the enhanced stature resulting from forcing the removal of Soviet missiles—and by that time presumably Soviet bombers also—from Cuba.

The White House shed little light on what they would discuss. It said only that Kennedy and Macmillan "have felt that it would be useful to have a further meeting to continue the informal series of reviews of the world situation which they have held from time to time."

Broad Range

But obviously they will have a broad range of subjects to take up: the India-China war, Berlin, disarmament, the Congo in particular. Both nations are deeply involved in all of these issues.

The India-China dispute involves decisions on how far the United States and Britain are willing tt go in helping India with war equipment, and perhaps even direct military aid.

The Congo's problems with Secessionist Katanga Province are again mounting and many sources here point out that Berlin remains an East-West crisis the Soviet Union can heat up any time it chooses.

Reds Drop Support Of Cuba's Demands

Unconfirmed Report Indicates Russia Cool To Castro's Program

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI)—Russia was reported Tuesday night to have dropped its support for Cuban Premier Fidel Castro's five-point demands for a crisis settlement, including U. S. withdrawal from the Guantanamo Bay naval base.

Reliable sources said Acting Secretary General Thant passed on this information to confidants Tuesday.

However, the Soviet Union was reported supporting Castro's resistance to U.S. demands for on-site inspection of offensive weapons systems in Cuba and insisting upon reciprocal inspection of "invasion" bases in Florida.

It was understood the Russian position was made clear to Thant by Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan when the two conferred briefly before a dinner given for top U.S. and Russian crisis negotiations by the U.N. chief executive Monday night.

Reports On Results

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson and trouble-shooter John J. McCloy reported to President Kennedy in Washington on the results of the dinner, in which it was assumed that Mikoyan had discussed the Soviet position in the light of his recently concluded 24-day mission to Havana for talks with Castro.

Diplomatic sources said the Soviet-Cuban insistence on reciprocal on-site inspection put the situation back to roughly where it was before the crisis became public knowledge with Kennedy's televised statement of Oct. 22.

If the inspection demand is not met—and diplomats ruled out any possibility of reciprocal inspection — the pre-crisis status quo would be maintained, and the United States would rely on its aerial surveillance to be certain that offensive weapons did not again enter Cuba.

Belgium-U.S. Agree On Congo Reunification

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak said Tuesday their two governments are prepared to invoke "severe economic measures" unless the Congo problem is settled.

The joint statement by Kennedy and Spaak, after an hour-long meeting, did not spell out the nature of the economic measures they had in mind but presumably they would be directed against the secessionist Katanga government.

Kennedy and Spaak said the two governments reaffirmed their full support for the plan by Acting Secretary General U Thant of the United Nations for reunification of the Congo.

The statement added the two governments up to now have directed their efforts toward accomplishment of the reunification plan along the line of voluntary discussion and action on the part of the Katanga government of President Moise Tshombe and the Central Government of Premier Cyrille Adoula.

They said this approach has not produced the necessary results, and then added:

"If there is not substantial progress within a very short period of time the United States government and the government of Belgium fully realize it will be necessary to execute further phases under the U.N. plan which include severe economic measures."

CAB Denies Merger Of Big Airlines

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Civil Aeronautics Board examiner recommended Tuesday that the proposed merger of American and Eastern airlines be denied.

Examiner Ralph L. Wiser said the merger would result in creation of a monopoly in a number of major markets.

He added that the resulting airline would represent a concentration of resources and power that could dominate the trunk air line industry and make it impossible for the CAB to continue its policy of maintaining competition and competitive balance.

The examiner also found that:

1. The merger would violate antitrust regulations.

2. The decline of trunk air line profits in recent years has not been proved to have been caused primarily by excessive competition. The decline has been caused largely by the procurement of a fleet of aircraft designed for a volume of traffic which has failed to develop.

Five Indicted For Scheme To Raise Charity Funds

BALTIMORE (AP)—Five men were indicted Tuesday by a federal grand jury on mail fraud charges stemming from an effort to collect funds for a non-existent basketball team.

The indictments charged that the defendants solicited funds for the program by making a total of 12 false statements about the charitable purpose of their request.

One of the defendants is Charles Hildebrand, a clerk in the Baltimore Bureau of Sanitation.

Other persons named by the grand jury were Jack H. Behrman of Baltimore; Associated Advertising Publications Corp., Baltimore; its president, Peter J .DeGalia, Riverdale, Md.; its vice president, Charles J. Cirelli, Baltimore, and Nicholas Procino, Baltimore, identified as a solicitor hired by Association Advertising.

The grand jury said the defendants devised a plan to defraud persons who could be induced to contribute advertising to a 10th anniversary program.

Solicitations for the program were made in the name of the Amateur Collegiate Basketball Team, but no such team existed, the indictment charged.

The grand jury claimed that fraudulent statements made by the defendants included the assertion that contributions would help in a program to combat juvenile delinquency.

Other counts in the indictments accuse the five of using the mails illegally to send requests for money.

U.S. Pleads For Nuclear Test Ban

Ambassador Dean In Geneva Says Need Is Urgent

By TOM OCHILTREE

GENEVA (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean called Tuesday for a new sense of urgency in the four-year-old negotiations for a nuclear weapon test ban.

He made his plea as delegates to the 17-nation disarmament conference waited for some sign from New York that the United States and the Soviet Union finally have buttoned up the Cuban problem.

Sleepy Atmosphere

At the moment Geneva was a sideshow in the involved diplomatic maneuvering going on between the big powers. There was almost a sleepy atmosphere about the disarmament talks.

But the delegates felt their time for hard work might come soon with the big powers ready to get down to serious bargaining on arms reduction and control problems.

Dean said in a broadcast interview that he thought the Cuban crisis, with its threat of nuclear strife, produced "a sobering effect on everyone's thinking."

"We have to go at the nuclear test ban problem with a renewed vigor," he said.

Inspection Barrier

One basic factor must change if the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union are to agree on a nuclear test ban. The Soviet Union must join the United States and Britain in accepting international on-site inspection and control to guarantee that none of the powers is sneaking underground tests.

When the disarmament conference resumed Monday after an 11-week recess, the Soviet delegate, Semyon K. Tsarapkin, offered to stop all nuclear testing by the end of the year. But he still rejected the international inspections arrangements the West regards as vital.

That meant the conference was back in its same old deadlock. It was also proceeding at a leisurely pace with plenary sessions scheduled only three times a week.

Soviet Union Has 30 Missile Submarines

LONDON (AP)—An authoritative British naval journal reported Tuesday the Soviet Union has 30 missle-launching submarines—twice as many as the United States.

But the figures given by Jane's Fighting Ships indicate the U.S. missile-launching submarines pack a more powerful punch with nine of the 14 in operation capable of firing Polaris missiles while submerged at targets 1,725 miles away.

Jane's said the United States will have 81 nuclear submarines operating by 1967. Of these, 41 will be equipped with Polaris missiles.

Jane's reported the range of missiles carried by Soviet submarines "about 350 miles but probably is being increased."

The journal said the Red navy is reducing the number of cruisers in commission but is beefing up those which remain with guided missiles and turning out missile-launching submarines at the rate of five or six a year.

President Drops In On Children's Birthday Party

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A joint birthday party for the Kennedy children was held Tuesday and President Kennedy slipped away from official duties briefly to drop in on the fun.

Caroline Kennedy was five years old Tuesday and last Sunday John Jr., became a two-year-old.

The children of the First Family invited about 30 playmates, most of them Caroline's kindergarten pals, to come to a party from 4 to 6 p.m. in the mansion.

The children all came to the White House bearing gifts. The little guests included friends from around the Kennedy's rented country estate at Middleburg, Va., and Kennedy family cousins from Washington.

State Dept. Revokes Curb On Reporters

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department revoked Tuesday an order that officials giving interviews to newsmen must report to an assistant secretary the names of the correspondent, his organization and the subject matter of the interview.

The order was issued Oct. 31 during the Cuban crisis. A similar order was put into effect in the Defense Department at about the same time. A Defense Department spokesman said there are no present plans to suspend or cancel it.

Suspension of the order as to State Department officials was announced by an assistant secretary, Robert Manning, who is in charge of public affairs for the department. He said the procedures imposed Oct. 31 have served their purpose which he said was to inform the department's leadership on the conduct of public business by policy officers.

Manning repeated earlier denials that the procedures were intended to dampen the flow of news. He added that the procedures may be reinstated if he later decides again to find out more about dealings with newsmen by State Department officials.

Harriman Will Visit Pakistan

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Chiefs of the U.S. and British missions which have been surveying India's Himalayan defense needs turned Tuesday to the job of trying to soothe Pakistanis inflamed by the flow of Western arms to the Indians.

British Commonwealth Relations Secretary Duncan Sandys flew from New Delhi to Pakistan and U.S. Assistant Secretary of State W. Averell Harriman planned to follow him Wednesday for this auxiliary phase of their study of the India-China war.

Heat of a 15-year quarrel between nonaligned India and pro-Western Pakistan over the border state of Kashmir complicated the task of the Western diplomats.

New Polio Cases

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Three new cases of polio in Fayette County last week boosted the state's total so far this year to 14, the State Health Department said Tuesday. A total of 32 cases had been reported at this time a year ago.

JFK-Mikoyan Will Confer Tomorrow

Cuban Dispute, Disarmament On Formal Agenda

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House announced Tuesday that President Kennedy will confer with Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan Thursday afternoon.

The Washington visit by Mikoyan, whom many regard as the No. 1 Soviet official under Premier Khrushchev, opened the way for a broadening of U.S.-Soviet discussions which in past weeks have been confined to the Cuban crisis.

Assistant presidential press secretary Malcolm Kilduff announced that Mikoyan, now in New York after a lengthy stay in Havana, will be in Washington Thursday and Friday.

Mikoyan's White House appointment was set for 4:30 p.m. EST Thursday. The Russian leader is expected to see Secretary of State Dean Rusk and other U.S. officials during his stay.

Cuba On Agenda

The still-unsolved Cuban dispute is expected to be on the agenda for the Mikoyan visit. But informants said now that the main part of the Cuban crisis is over, the talks with Mikoyan are likely to cover a broad range of issues.

That would amount to somewhat of a thaw of the freeze on diplomatic dealings with the Soviets which Kennedy imposed at the start of confrontation with Russia over Cuba.

Aides said the President at that time directed that dealings with the Russians focus on the Cuban issue until U.S. demands for the removal of offensive weapons from Cuba were accepted. How much of a thaw develops would depend on how well negotiations with the Soviets proceed in New York.

Khrushchev has now removed medium and intermediate range missiles and promised to remove his medium jet bombers from Cuba. And while the issue of international inspection to make sure that Cuba is kept free of the weapons is still unresolved, U.S. officials said that question could be attended to in the U.S.-Soviet negotiations under way in New York.

To Talk Disarmament

Kennedy is expected to talk to Mikoyan about disarmament and a nuclear test ban and other items, including a reduction of East-West tensions generally.

In their public exchange of messages proposing a Cuba settlement, both Kennedy and Khrushchev spoke of the possibility of going on to new efforts to hold back the arms race.

There had been reports Kennedy would not take the initiative in arranging a meeting with Mikoyan, although the administration was highly interested in the results of his extended talks with Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Asked who requested the Kennedy-Mikoyan conference, Kilduff would say only that it is a "mutually agreed meeting."

Mikoyan arrived in New York Monday from Cuba where he is believed to have attempted to work out a Cuban settlement that Castro, the United States and the Soviet Union would accept.

But Castro is reportedly incensed over the Soviet backdown in removing its offensive weapons from Cuba under pressure from the United States.

So far he has blocked United Nations inspection to verify their removal, which was part of the basic Cuban settlement agreed upon by Kennedy and Khrushchev.

Bolivian Congresswoman Ready To Fight A Duel

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI) — Firebrand congresswoman Rosa Lema Dolz, self-styled "defender of unwed mothers," accused a government party leader of cowardice Tuesday in not acting on her duel-to-the-death challenge.

She issued the challenge Sunday to Armando Bascope, a director of the National Revolutionary Movement (MNR), Bolivia's ruling party.

Bascope had kicked Rosa out of the party "for lack of party discipline."

She said Tuesday she wanted to duel with .38 caliber pistols at forty feet. Bascope has not acknowledged her challenge, which was conveyed personally by Rosa's two female seconds.

The MNR executive committee called an emergency meeting Tuesday in an attempt to resolve the situation which threatens to develop into a party-embarrassing "cause celebre" led by Bolivia's feminists.

Around 500 of them, all members of the official party, were reported on a hunger strike today in solidarity with Roea.

"I learned to handle firearms as a child, and I'm a crack shot. That's why Bascope has displayed fearful evasion and doesn't want to duel with me since he knows I'll kill him," the 4-foot-11-inch congresswoman told UPI Tuesday.

Ship Struck Granite Hill Near Lima

By ALBERTO J. SCHAZIN

LIMA, Peru (UPI)—A Varig Airlines jet airliner en route from Rio de Janeiro to Los Angeles with 97 persons aboard crashed in pre-dawn darkness Tuesday into a 2,000-foot granite hill as it circled for a landing. All aboard including at least 15 Americans were killed.

The Peruvian Air Ministry said the burned and blackened wreckage of the big Brazilian Boeing 707 was found on Las Cruces hill, a mass of granite-like rock which rises abruptly from the coastal desert eight miles south of Lima. The ministry said the 80 passengers and 17 crew members were incinerated.

The crash brought to 179 the number of persons killed in passenger plane accidents on four continents in five days. Eighty-two were killed in crashes in Maryland, Brazil, France and Sao Tome Island off Portuguese West Africa.

Cause of Tuesday's disaster was a mystery. The pilot had radioed he was swinging out to sea before coming in for a landing on the flight from Rio over the 22,000-foot Andes. He had checked his position 20 minutes earlier with the control tower at Pisco, Peru.

Plane Vanished

The plane simply vanished and its location was not known until a helicopter spotted it from the air. Other planes and Peruvian destroyers were searching the Pacific at the time in belief it may have crashed into the sea.

The pilot radioed intention of his swing over the sea at 3:37 a.m. EST. He gave no indication of trouble to the Lima control tower. However, a conflicting report from Rio De Janeiro said he had radioed Pisco that he was going to make an "emergency landing." He was only four minutes from safety when he hit.

The weather conditions at the time were considered good for Lima, often blanketed with thick low clouds. Visibility was 8½ miles and the ceiling was 1,500 feet—but 500 feet below the crest of the big granite hill.

The Americans aboard the plane either were working in South America, visiting or studying there. Another victim, Francisco Garica, an employe of the Brazilian Airlines was reported to make his home in Miami, Fla., but his nationality was unknown.

In addition there were 11 Cubans, a delegation from Castro's Cuba heading home from a United Nations food and agricultural organization conference in Rio De Janeiro.

Air Deaths Total 179 In Five Days

By United Press International

The crash of a Brazilian Varig Airlines 707 jet near Lima, Peru, Tuesday with 97 persons aboard brought the death toll in air disasters in the past five days to 179.

Last Friday 56 persons were killed in three separate crashes and 26 were killed Monday in an aerial collision of a Brazilian Vasp airliner and a small private plane near Sao Paulo, Brazil.

On Friday a United Air Lines Viscount crashed near Elliott City, Md., killing the 17 persons aboard, a Soviet-made Hungarian Airlines Ilyushin 18 crashed and burned near Le Bourget Airport in Paris, killing 21 persons, and a Portuguese air force C54 transport crashed on the island of Sao Tome off Portuguese West Africa killing 18 of the 22 persons on board.

The worst aviation disaster of all time, the aerial collision of a United Air Lines DC8 and a Trans World Airlines Super Constellation over New York City on Dec. 16, 1960, killed 134 persons, six of them persons who were on the ground.

The worst single plane disaster in history occurred on June 3 this year when an Air France Boeing 707 cracked up on takeoff at Orly Field near Paris. Among the 130 persons killed were 121 prominent residents of Atlanta, Ga., returning home from a tour of Europe.

Other major disasters and the number killed include:

—129 in the crash of a U.S. Air Force Globemaster C124 near Tokyo on June 18, 1953.

—128 in the collision of a TWA Super Constellation and a United Air Lines DC7 over the Grand Canyon on June 30, 1956.

—113 when an Air France DC8 slammed into a mountain on the West Indian island of Guadalope on June 23, 1962.

—111, a chartered DC7C, near Douala, Cameroun Republic, March 4, 1962.

—99, a Dutch KLM Super Constellation off the coast of Ireland Aug. 14, 1958.

—95, an American Airlines 707 jet at New York's Idlewild Airport, March 1, 1962

Power Failure Blacks-Out Base

GUANTANAMO BAY, Cuba (AP)—A power failure blacked out this U.S. naval base for more than 2 hours early Tuesday, but emergency generators filled the power requirements of the base hospital, key radar stations and other essential operations. Authorities said one engine in the power plant broke down, leading to overloads on the other lines.

Next Session Holy Council Is Postponed

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John XXIII has agreed to postpone the second session of the Ecumenical Council from May 12 until September of next year, it was announced Tuesday.

The present session will end Dec. 8 and the second session was to have run from May 12 through June 29. Closing date of the postponed session was not set.

The postponement had been requested by a number of bishops and the pontiff acceded to their wishes of what he has called his "Parliament of God."

The Pope twice has speeded council work by amending regulations which he had issued. He also has stepped in to cut off debate on a controversial technological item although "liberal" fathers who opposed it barely had failed to win the required two-thirds majority.

Tuesday's session also heard Ecumenical Council liberals criticize as "harsh and peremptory" the approach by some Vatican "conservatives" to union with the Eastern (Orthodox) Church.

The liberals said Roman Catholics must take their share of the blame for past splits with the orthodox and recognize the fact the Eastern church was founded directly by the apostles.

Their opposition was aimed at a draft on the terms for union with the Eastern churches, submitted by a preparatory commission under Amleto Cardinal Cicognani, the papal secretary of state.

The draft on relations with the Eastern churches was the first council item directly related with the Pope's long range goal—reunification of all Christians in "one fold under one pastor."

U.S. Pleads For Nuclear Test Ban

Ambassador Dean In Geneva Says Need Is Urgent

By TOM OCHILTREE

GENEVA (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean called Tuesday for a new sense of urgency in the four-year-old negotiations for a nuclear weapon test ban.

He made his plea as delegates to the 17-nation disarmament conference waited for some sign from New York that the United States and the Soviet Union finally have buttoned up the Cuban problem.

State Dept. Revokes Curb On Reporters

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department revoked Tuesday an order that officials giving interviews to newsmen must report to an assistant secretary the names of the correspondent, his organization and the subject matter of the interview.

The order was issued Oct. 31 during the Cuban crisis. A similar order was put into effect in the Defense Department at about the same time. A Defense Department spokesman said there are no present plans to suspend or cancel it.

Suspension of the order as to State Department officials was announced by an assistant secretary, Robert Manning, who is in charge of public affairs for the department. He said the procedures imposed Oct. 31 have served their purpose which he said was to inform the department's leadership on the conduct of public business by policy officers.

Manning repeated earlier denials that the procedures were intended to dampen the flow of news. He added that the procedures may be reinstated if he later decides again to find out more about dealings with newsmen by State Department officials.

Harriman Will Visit Pakistan

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Chiefs of the U.S. and British missions which have been surveying India's Himalayan defense needs turned Tuesday to the job of trying to soothe Pakistanis inflamed by the flow of Western arms to the Indians.

British Commonwealth Relations Secretary Duncan Sandys flew from New Delhi to Pakistan and U.S. Assistant Secretary of State W. Averell Harriman planned to follow him Wednesday for this auxiliary phase of their study of the India-China war.

Heat of a 15-year quarrel between nonaligned India and pro-Western Pakistan over the border state of Kashmir complicated the task of the Western diplomats.

New Polio Cases

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Three new cases of polio in Fayette County last week boosted the state's total so far this year to 14, the State Health Department said Tuesday. A total of 32 cases had been reported at this time a year ago.

JFK-Mikoyan Will Confer Tomorrow

Cuban Dispute, Disarmament On Formal Agenda

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House announced Tuesday that President Kennedy will confer with Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan Thursday afternoon.

The Washington visit by Mikoyan, whom many regard as the No. 1 Soviet official under Premier Khrushchev, opened the way for a broadening of U.S.-Soviet discussions which in past weeks have been confined to the Cuban crisis.

Assistant presidential press secretary Malcolm Kilduff announced that Mikoyan, now in New York after a lengthy stay in Havana, will be in Washington Thursday and Friday.

Mikoyan's White House appointment was set for 4:30 p.m. EST Thursday. The Russian leader is expected to see Secretary of State Dean Rusk and other U.S. officials during his stay.

Cuba On Agenda

The still-unsolved Cuban dispute is expected to be on the agenda for the Mikoyan visit. But informants said now that the main part of the Cuban crisis is over, the talks with Mikoyan are likely to cover a broad range of issues.

That would amount to somewhat of a thaw of the freeze on diplomatic dealings with the Soviets which Kennedy imposed at the start of confrontation with Russia over Cuba.

Aides said the President at that time directed that dealings with the Russians focus on the Cuban issue until U.S. demands for the removal of offensive weapons from Cuba were accepted. How much of a thaw develops would depend on how well negotiations with the Soviets proceed in New York.

Khrushchev has now removed medium and intermediate range missiles and promised to remove his medium jet bombers from Cuba. And while the issue of international inspection to make sure that Cuba is kept free of the weapons is still unresolved, U.S. officials said that question could be attended to in the U.S.-Soviet negotiations under way in New York.

To Talk Disarmament

Kennedy is expected to talk to Mikoyan about disarmament and a nuclear test ban and other items, including a reduction of East-West tensions generally.

In their public exchange of messages proposing a Cuba settlement, both Kennedy and Khrushchev spoke of the possibility of going on to new efforts to hold back the arms race.

There had been reports Kennedy would not take the initiative in arranging a meeting with Mikoyan, although the administration was highly interested in the results of his extended talks with Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Asked who requested the Kennedy-Mikoyan conference, Kilduff would say only that it is a "mutually agreed meeting."

Mikoyan arrived in New York Monday from Cuba where he is believed to have attempted to work out a Cuban settlement that Castro, the United States and the Soviet Union would accept.

But Castro is reportedly incensed over the Soviet backdown in removing its offensive weapons from Cuba under pressure from the United States.

So far he has blocked United Nations inspection to verify their removal, which was part of the basic Cuban settlement agreed upon by Kennedy and Khrushchev.

Bolivian Congresswoman Ready To Fight A Duel

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI) — Firebrand congresswoman Rosa Lema Dolz, self-styled "defender of unwed mothers," accused a government party leader of cowardice Tuesday in not acting on her duel-to-the-death challenge.

She issued the challenge Sunday to Armando Bascope, a director of the National Revolutionary Movement (MNR), Bolivia's ruling party.

Bascope had kicked Rosa out of the party "for lack of party discipline."

She said Tuesday she wanted to duel with .38 caliber pistols at forty feet. Bascope has not acknowledged her challenge, which was conveyed personally by Rosa's two female seconds.

The MNR executive committee called an emergency meeting Tuesday in an attempt to resolve the situation which threatens to develop into a party-embarrassing "cause celebre" led by Bolivia's feminists.

Around 500 of them, all members of the official party, were reported on a hunger strike today in solidarity with Roea.

"I learned to handle firearms as a child, and I'm a crack shot. That's why Bascope has displayed fearful evasion and doesn't want to duel with me since he knows I'll kill him," the 4-foot-11-inch congresswoman told UPI Tuesday.

Ship Struck Granite Hill Near Lima

By ALBERTO J. SCHAZIN

LIMA, Peru (UPI)—A Varig Airlines jet airliner en route from Rio de Janeiro to Los Angeles with 97 persons aboard crashed in pre-dawn darkness Tuesday into a 2,000-foot granite hill as it circled for a landing. All aboard including at least 15 Americans were killed.

The Peruvian Air Ministry said the burned and blackened wreckage of the big Brazilian Boeing 707 was found on Las Cruces hill, a mass of granite-like rock which rises abruptly from the coastal desert eight miles south of Lima. The ministry said the 80 passengers and 17 crew members were incinerated.

The crash brought to 179 the number of persons killed in passenger plane accidents on four continents in five days. Eighty-two were killed in crashes in Maryland, Brazil, France and Sao Tome Island off Portuguese West Africa.

Cause of Tuesday's disaster was a mystery. The pilot had radioed he was swinging out to sea before coming in for a landing on the flight from Rio over the 22,000-foot Andes. He had checked his position 20 minutes earlier with the control tower at Pisco, Peru.

Plane Vanished

The plane simply vanished and its location was not known until a helicopter spotted it from the air. Other planes and Peruvian destroyers were searching the Pacific at the time in belief it may have crashed into the sea.

The pilot radioed intention of his swing over the sea at 3:37 a.m. EST. He gave no indication of trouble to the Lima control tower. However, a conflicting report from Rio De Janeiro said he had radioed Pisco that he was going to make an "emergency landing." He was only four minutes from safety when he hit.

The weather conditions at the time were considered good for Lima, often blanketed with thick low clouds. Visibility was 8½ miles and the ceiling was 1,500 feet—but 500 feet below the crest of the big granite hill.

The Americans aboard the plane either were working in South America, visiting or studying there. Another victim, Francisco Garica, an employe of the Brazilian Airlines was reported to make his home in Miami, Fla., but his nationality was unknown.

In addition there were 11 Cubans, a delegation from Castro's Cuba heading home from a United Nations food and agricultural organization conference in Rio De Janeiro.

Power Failure Blacks-Out Base

GUANTANAMO BAY, Cuba (AP)—A power failure blacked out this U.S. naval base for more than 2 hours early Tuesday, but emergency generators filled the power requirements of the base hospital, key radar stations and other essential operations. Authorities said one engine in the power plant broke down, leading to overloads on the other lines.

Next Session Holy Council Is Postponed

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John XXIII has agreed to postpone the second session of the Ecumenical Council from May 12 until September of next year, it was announced Tuesday.

The present session will end Dec. 8 and the second session was to have run from May 12 through June 29. Closing date of the postponed session was not set.

The postponement had been requested by a number of bishops and the pontiff acceded to their wishes of what he has called his "Parliament of God."

The Pope twice has speeded council work by amending regulations which he had issued. He also has stepped in to cut off debate on a controversial technological item although "liberal" fathers who opposed it barely had failed to win the required two-thirds majority.

Tuesday's session also heard Ecumenical Council liberals criticize as "harsh and peremptory" the approach by some Vatican "conservatives" to union with the Eastern (Orthodox) Church.

The liberals said Roman Catholics must take their share of the blame for past splits with the orthodox and recognize the fact the Eastern church was founded directly by the apostles.

Their opposition was aimed at a draft on the terms for union with the Eastern churches, submitted by a preparatory commission under Amleto Cardinal Cicognani, the papal secretary of state.

The draft on relations with the Eastern churches was the first council item directly related with the Pope's long range goal—reunification of all Christians in "one fold under one pastor."

Dancer Is Held As Suspect In Doctor Slaying

Vicki Storm Seeks Release On Writ

BALTIMORE (AP) — A judge gave police another 24 hours Tuesday to question a 21-year-old night club dancer who is a suspect in the slaying of a Filipino physician.

Maxine Gross, who dances under the name of Vicki Storm, had asked to be released on a writ of habeus corpus.

She was arrested Sunday after police found the body of Dr. DeoGracias DeLeon, 29, of Manila, in a shower stall in a room at the Mayfair Hotel.

Judge Dulaney Foster said at the hearing that he might rule Wednesday on whether police were holding Miss Gross legally.

Police testified they needed the 24 hours to recover certain items of evidence and that the effort would be hampered if the girl were released.

Lt. Anton Glover testified at the hearing that the dancer told police she saw DeLeon alive at 2 p.m. Sunday but returned later to find him dead in the shower stall.

Dr. DeLeon was chief resident in obstetrics and gynecology at St. Joseph's Hospital in Baltimore.

The dancer gave her name, address and time of arrest at the hearing. But her attorneys said they had advised her not to answer any other police questions.

Man Gets Year For His Part In Jail Break

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP)—John C. Jernigan was sentenced to a year in jail Tuesday for escaping, along with four other prisoners, from the Alexandria jail Friday night.

Police Det. Archie Hall testified Jernigan's arrest came about after a tip from his wife, Marie, who said she pleaded with her husband "It's no use running."

Mrs. Jernigan testified in the Municipal Court hearing before Judge James N. Colasanto. She said she drove to a pre-arranged meeting place in a parking lot and that her husband jumped into the driver's seat and sped off, despite police attempts to stop him.

She said she then grabbed the ignition key and turned off the engine. As the car rolled to a stop, two detectives in a police cruiser moved in and captured Jernigan.

Only one of the five escapees, Paul Lamb, 29, of Washington, remains at large. The three others, William Sholes, 22, and Martin Frickleton, 21, both charged with illegal possession of narcotics, and Willard Esque, 41, charged with felonious assault, were picked up Sunday in Bucks County, Pa.

The escape was described to the court by the jailer, Theodore E. Wood, who said Sholes and Lamb threatened in the cellblock to kill Jernigan unless he were moved somewhere else.

Roving Pickets Close Mines In 5-County Area

WELCH, W.Va. (AP) — Striking coal miners went on another picketing tour Tuesday, trying to close mines until their operators have settled up with the United Mine Workers welfare and retirement fund.

But there was no recurrence Tuesday of the scattered dynamite blasts and volleys of shots from nearby wooded mountains which accompanied picketing the day before. No injuries have been reported.

An estimated 600 to 1,000 men have been on strike about eight days at a number of small mines in a five-county area of southern West Virginia.

The strike followed the UMW's suspension of welfare cards of miners whose employers have failed to pay the 40-cents-a-ton royalty to the union's welfare and retirement fund, as provided under UMW contracts. The fund supports the union hospital and medical program, among other things.

Operating Tuesday in an area west of here, roving pickets pulled up at the Phelps Colliery and Coal Co. tipple at Ben Creek to find that the 22 men employed there had voted earlier in the day to shutdown and join the strike.

A showdown with one operator who had threatened to run his mine despite picketing was averted when he changed his mind. Quentin Whaley, owner of the Dry fork Pocahontas Coal Co. near Iaeger, said there was "no use to stick my neck out when the rest of the operators were sitting home doing nothing."

Whaley had declared Monday that his mine would operate Tuesday "regardless of what the union says."

Both states also are among those where the report said employment will rise and personal income will rise.

Cuban Official Killed

The Cuban delegation included Raul Cepero Bonilla, president of the Cuban National Bank and Commerce Minister in Fidel Castro's original cabinet—the only so-called moderate or non-Marxist in that cabinet who did not subsequently defect. He moved to his bank job when Ernesto (Che) Guevara became industries minister in a cabinet shakeup in 1960.

With the group was Chilean Rodrigio Cabello Volosky, who had been working in the agrarian reform office in Havana with Carlos Rafael Rodriguez. The others held various ranks in the Castro government.

At 3:37 a.m., when the pilot's last radio report was received at Pisco, Lima Airport officials said there was visibility here for 8½ miles and the ceiling was about 1,500 feet. This is considered good visibility for Lima.

Later in the morning, heavy clouds covered the ocean and this capital city, hampering search operations. Nearly 10 hours elapsed from the pilot's final report to discovery of the wreckage.

The Varig aircraft had been scheduled to stop at Lima, Bogota, Panama City and Mexico City before proceeding to Los Angeles.

Storm Damage Only Slight At Ocean City

Sand Piles Close State Highway

OCEAN CITY, Md. (AP) — A northeast storm blew sand into the streets and caused some minor flooding here and in Rehoboth Beach, Del., Monday night, but by noon Tuesday the sun was shining on the beach.

Winds reached more than 30 m.p.h. and six-foot high waves battered the protective sand dune barrier built after a tidal storm ravaged the resort last March.

The Weather Bureau said each succeeding high tide will be less intense. The Coast Guard said the high tide Tuesday morning was only 2½ feet above normal.

Severe winds lashed the beaches and drove sand into Baltimore Avenue which parallels the boardwalk. Some drifts of sand were three feet deep.

On the Ocean Highway between Ocean City and Rehoboth Beach, Del., sand piled up so deep near Bethany Beach that Delaware State police had to close the highway.

The Weather Bureau said the tail end of the northeaster, already moved southward, would heighten tides slightly above normal late Tuesday. But a spokesman at the City Hall said, "As far as we are concerned its over with."

Cuban Official Killed

The Cuban delegation included Raul Cepero Bonilla, president of the Cuban National Bank and Commerce Minister in Fidel Castro's original cabinet—the only so-called moderate or non-Marxist in that cabinet who did not subsequently defect. He moved to his bank job when Ernesto (Che) Guevara became industries minister in a cabinet shakeup in 1960.

With the group was Chilean Rodrigio Cabello Volosky, who had been working in the agrarian reform office in Havana with Carlos Rafael Rodriguez. The others held various ranks in the Castro government.

At 3:37 a.m., when the pilot's last radio report was received at Pisco, Lima Airport officials said there was visibility here for 8½ miles and the ceiling was about 1,500 feet. This is considered good visibility for Lima.

Later in the morning, heavy clouds covered the ocean and this capital city, hampering search operations. Nearly 10 hours elapsed from the pilot's final report to discovery of the wreckage.

The Varig aircraft had been scheduled to stop at Lima, Bogota, Panama City and Mexico City before proceeding to Los Angeles.

Storm Damage Only Slight At Ocean City

Sand Piles Close State Highway

OCEAN CITY, Md. (AP) — A northeast storm blew sand into the streets and caused some minor flooding here and in Rehoboth Beach, Del., Monday night, but by noon Tuesday the sun was shining on the beach.

Winds reached more than 30 m.p.h. and six-foot high waves battered the protective sand dune barrier built after a tidal storm ravaged the resort last March.

The Weather Bureau said each succeeding high tide will be less intense. The Coast Guard said the high tide Tuesday morning was only 2½ feet above normal.

Severe winds lashed the beaches and drove sand into Baltimore Avenue which parallels the boardwalk. Some drifts of sand were three feet deep.

On the Ocean Highway between Ocean City and Rehoboth Beach, Del., sand piled up so deep near Bethany Beach that Delaware State police had to close the highway.

The Weather Bureau said the tail end of the northeaster, already moved southward, would heighten tides slightly above normal late Tuesday. But a spokesman at the City Hall said, "As far as we are concerned its over with."

Governor Gets New Limousine

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Governor Tawes is driving a new nine-passenger limousine that cost $10,460.50, including trade-in value.

The governor turned in a 3-year-old Cadillac with 120,000 miles.

The state was allowed $4,825 for the 1960 model and payed $5,635.50 cash.

Charles F. Schomann, a buyer with the Department of Budget and Procurement, said the official car was purchased from a Baltimore dealer who made the low bid among four.

The Gannet is a three-seat anti-submarine aircraft sometimes used as a trainer. Cause of the crash was not immediately known.

Do You Suffer From Sick, Throbbing Migraine Headaches?

New Medical Discovery Never Before Available Now Released To Public. No Prescription Needed.

Today, science has announced a doctor's new formula which has been especially developed to relieve both the throbbing pain and sickish feeling of migraine-type headaches. Tests conducted by a practicing New York physician showed that in patient after patient—pain-relief and comfort were obtained in minutes. And all without the use of narcotics, codeine or ergot remedies which may upset the stomach and so further aggravate the condition.

This remarkable new formula is called Duplexin®. It is the first headache discovery in the history of medicine with this exclusive formula, (a unique 2-layer pink and white tablet). It relieves both headache pain and a sick, upset stomach with this exclusive formula.

Here are the medical facts why Duplexin is safer, faster, more effective—why it's unlike the usual headache remedies. Only Duplexin unites powerful doctor-approved pain relievers with this special stomach-soothing antacid. In seconds, Duplexin does what no aspirin or buffered aspirin can ever do. It contains exclusive, hospital-tested medications not found in any alkalizer or seltzer. Duplexin's white layer concentrates on relieving pain faster. Throbbing pain relieved in minutes. Its pink layer relieves that sickish feeling and protects your stomach as it keeps on speeding relief.

Duplexin also calms nervous stress (which so often causes migraine) and helps relieve depression. Taken at the first sign of an attack, Duplexin actually helps prevent those migraine pains. Ask for Duplexin Tablets at any drug-store. Now available without prescription.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently someone wrote about a rich aunt whose stockings were torn by a pet cat roaming around under the dining room table. She sent her niece (the hostess) a bill for $2.05. The niece moaned, "The richest relatives are always the stingiest."

May I say a word in defense of "the richest relatives?" My husband and I, unfortunately, have this dubious distinction through no fault of our own. Due to a series of untimely deaths on both sides, we inherited a considerable amount of money.

Our money has brought us nothing but criticism and trouble. We remained in our modest home for a year after the first inheritance came through. We were labeled "ignorant hillbillies who didn't know what to do with money now that we had it." When we bought a lovely home were were accused of "putting on the ritz."

We don't dare refuse an invitation from a relative or we'll hear we are getting "stuck up." If we send a modest gift we are "cheaping out." If we send a lavish gift we are "showing off."

Our nephews think we should send them through college. Our nieces think we should pay for their weddings.

So, Ann, being the rich relative can sometimes be more trouble than it's worth.

—HEAVY HEARTED

DEAR HEAVY: My friends who have been both rich and poor tell me that rich is better.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Next spring will be the tenth anniversary of my high school graduation. I'm going to be right in this city. My mother keeps telling me I'll never forgive myself if I miss it. I don't want to attend the reunion for the following reasons:

I've had a lot of luck since I got out of high school—all bad. First a marriage failure, then a serious accident, next, financial trouble, and just last year two major operations.

I've never had enough money at one time to buy a decent car or the kind of clothes I'd like to wear. Many of my classmates made good marriages and have lovely homes and families.

What could I say to these people who have all done better? I'd have nothing to talk about except my troubles and failures. I know I'd be miserable. Maybe a word from you will help to get my mother off my back.

—CLASS OF '53

DEAR CLASS: Stay home. Under the circumstances I agree you'd have a perfectly hideous time.

Set your sights on the reunion in '73. And let's hope the next ten years will be better ones.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When you spoke at our high school several weeks ago you said, "The girl is the big loser in the game of heavy romance." Well I'd like to tell you that the boy can be a big loser, too. I know because I am one who is.

My girl is 15. I am 17. We started going steady two years ago which was our first big mistake. The more time we spent together the easier it was to go a little further. Before we knew it we were doing things we had no right to do. We made up all kinds of excuses to justify our behavior—even the old line about living every day to the limit because tomorrow we may be the victims of an H bomb.

Three weeks ago my girl found out for sure that she is in trouble. I'll never forget the agony of telling our parents. They were so shocked and hurt. It was the most horrible experience a couple of kids can go through.

Now my girl is in another city with relatives. Our parents have decided it would be best if we didn't write or see each other. The baby will be put out for adoption. I don't know how my girl will feel about me when all this is over. All I can say now is I am heartsick and miserable.

Bringing Up Baby®

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

At first new mothers are apt to think that almost every cry is a cry of hunger. (But they soon learn that babies cry for other things: air-bubble trouble, diaper discomfort, loneliness, etc.) How can you tell if baby's crying complaint is hunger? Well, you can't every time, but a pretty reliable guide is how much time has elapsed since the last feeding. If he was fed only an hour or so before, he may need a little extra bubbling or cuddling before he's ready for the sandman.

Solid story. Baby's first solid food is usually cereal, specially prepared to supply needed iron and other important nutrients. Gerber Cereal Quads provide the ideal way to introduce cereal variety to your darling. This handy, 4-in-1 package contains small-size boxes of cereal for pint-size appetites. Rice Cereal, Oatmeal, Mixed Cereal and High Protein Cereal make up the happy list of delicate flavors. All four are enriched with iron, calcium and important B-vitamins.

Success story. Early spoon feedings are usually more successful if you remember these tried-'n-true tips:

- Bird-size helpings are easier for baby to take. Place food well back on baby's tongue.
- Don't worry if more food goes out than in. The knack of swallowing has to be learned. (Gerber Cereals are extra-smooth and easy to swallow.)
- If you make the cereal mixture quite soupy at first, it will seem more like the formula baby's been used to.

Sitting pretty. Baby can comfortably visit on any lap without mishap. Gerber Baby Pants are made of satin-soft polyvinyl film that's waterproof, leak-proof, acid-proof.

Important: Gerber Baby Pants are really rugged, will last and stay soft through many, many machine washings. Medium, large, extra-large, in pull-on or snap-on styles. Gerber Products Co., Fremont, Michigan.

Police Praised For Working Traffic

The Cumberland Police Department drew praise yesterday for its efficient handling of traffic last Thursday before and after the Fort Hill-Allegany football game.

J. Goodloe Jackson, president of the Allegany County Board of Education, in a letter to Police and Fire Commission William V. Keegan stated: "You, Chief B. Frank Gaffney and all of your officers, both regular and Auxiliary, should be commended for the handing of traffic to and from the Thanksgiving Day football game.

"Cars moved steadily, and without having to endure long waits. All of this showed careful planning and execution. Please extend my personal congratulations to all who were responsible for this splendid result."

Police Commissioner Keegan also received congratulations for this department's quick action last week from a downtown merchant.

Stuart N. Rosenbaum, of Rosenbaum Brothers, Inc., said: "We certainly would appreciate it very much if you would thank the Police Department, especially the members who were on duty last Saturday night, who so hurriedly took care of things when our fire escape was pulled down which set off the alarm system. We can say they certainly moved fast."

City Police last Saturday night prevented a breaking and entering at the store when intruders pulled down the fire escape and the alarm system was sounded. Police responded to the scene, arrested two young boys and later released them to their parents without charge.

LaVale Firemen Answer Call

LaVale firemen were called yesterday morning when an overheated furance in the home of Donald Haney, 8 Harold Street, caused dust to ignite and come out of the single register in a ball of fire.

He called the fire department at 9:35 a.m., but using a extinguisher had the situation under control by the time the nine men and two pieces of equipment arrived, according to Paul Boch, president of the fire department.

Local Man Promoted

Marty Mullaney, 601½ Hill Top Drive, has been promoted to assistant manager of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company office at Cambridge.

Mullaney, who was employed as a Metropolitan insurance consultant here, will work out of the company's Salisbury office.

The local man started working with the company here on March 23, 1959 and on October 16, 1961 he was named to the firm's Honor Club and promoted to the consultant position.

Secrets Of Charm

Three Easy Poise Builders

What can you do about a girl who does the wrong thing because she's trying so hard to do the right? Shower her with frowns and "don'ts"? Tell her she struts like a turkey hen . . . and destroy what little confidence she possesses? Hardly!

If she were my child or one of our would-be models, I'd put her through a course of sprouts—poise sprouts, that is. What she needs is something added, not subtracted from her personality. As soon as she has some new graces to display, her boisterousness will disappear.

A swaggering or assertive walk will quickly yield to these three corrective measures. In its place will be something highly attractive and desirable.

1. Add cadence to the stride. Practice will make a step about the length of the foot come naturally in no time—and also take the wiggle out of the hips.

2. Add grace to the arms. When the arms swing the approximate length of the step and close to the body, the entire torso gains a composed look.

3. Add poise to the head. By pulling the neck well out of the shoulders and keeping the chin up, a charming face will replace the jiggle-top.

As soon as our young lady receives her first compliment on her gracefulness, she will feel a thrilling surge of the inner poise she has been striving for. As each stumbling block is removed, greater and greater poise will be hers. After all, poise is nothing more than knowing what to do, how to do it, and when to do it. These are things anybody can learn.

Street Department Begins Fire Hazard Campaign

The Street Department has launched a campaign to acquaint employes of all departments in firefighting procedures and to eradicate fire hazards in all public buildings.

Street Commissioner Lucile W. Roeder said the drive is being conducted with the cooperation of Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker and members of the Fire Department: John E. Trost, fire inspector; and Lynn Walker, safety advisor for the department.

December 10 at 12:30 p.m., a safety meeting will be held at the Street Department warehouse, Valley Street, and memos are being sent all department heads inviting them to send employes to a demonstration, discussion and information session on the use of fire extinguishers.

Trost will conduct the demonstration and actual fire will be used in showing how to extinguish a blaze.

Meanwhile, posters have been made available concerning the use of extinguishers to all departments. Mrs. Roeder emphasized that the first rule in event of fire, is to call the Fire Department then proceed to fight it with equipment on hand.

The Fire Department is conducting inspections of public buildings and as any hazard or possible hazard is found, Street Department employes remedy it, Mrs. Roeder said.

Inventories are being taken of firefighting equipment available in public buildings and a regular schedule of maintenance as well as placement of the right type at different locations formulated, the commissioner added.

Tense Nerves Block Bowels

New laxative acts on colonic muscles...de-constipates overnight.

The muscular wall of your colon contains nerves known to medicine as Auerbach's Plexus. In regular people, these nerves tell the colon muscles to propel and expel waste from the body.

But tense nerves or emotional upset can block your normal bowel habits. Your colon muscle impulses are no longer strong enough to eliminate waste—which dries and shrinks, further aggravating the condition.

The most effective relief, many doctors say, comes from a bulking action combined with a colonic nerve stimulating action. Of all leading laxatives only a new tablet called COLONAID gives you this special combination for 3-way overnight relief:

(1) COLONAID stimulates colonic nerve network, to further activate and regularize its muscular "movement". (2) COLONAID'S unique re-bulking action helps re-tone tense colon muscles. (3) COLONAID moisturizes for easy passage without pain or strain.

COLONAID even relieves chronic constipation overnight; yet it is clinically-proved gentle even for expectant mothers. Get COLONAID today. INTRODUCTORY SIZE 43¢.

Police Praised For Working Traffic

The Cumberland Police Department drew praise yesterday for its efficient handling of traffic last Thursday before and after the Fort Hill-Allegany football game.

J. Goodloe Jackson, president of the Allegany County Board of Education, in a letter to Police and Fire Commission William V. Keegan stated: "You, Chief B. Frank Gaffney and all of your officers, both regular and Auxiliary, should be commended for the handing of traffic to and from the Thanksgiving Day football game.

"Cars moved steadily, and without having to endure long waits. All of this showed careful planning and execution. Please extend my personal congratulations to all who were responsible for this splendid result."

Police Commissioner Keegan also received congratulations for this department's quick action last week from a downtown merchant.

Stuart N. Rosenbaum, of Rosenbaum Brothers, Inc., said: "We certainly would appreciate it very much if you would thank the Police Department, especially the members who were on duty last Saturday night, who so hurriedly took care of things when our fire escape was pulled down which set off the alarm system. We can say they certainly moved fast."

City Police last Saturday night prevented a breaking and entering at the store when intruders pulled down the fire escape and the alarm system was sounded. Police responded to the scene, arrested two young boys and later released them to their parents without charge.

LaVale Firemen Answer Call

LaVale firemen were called yesterday morning when an overheated furance in the home of Donald Haney, 8 Harold Street, caused dust to ignite and come out of the single register in a ball of fire.

He called the fire department at 9:35 a.m., but using a extinguisher had the situation under control by the time the nine men and two pieces of equipment arrived, according to Paul Boch, president of the fire department.

Local Man Promoted

Marty Mullaney, 601½ Hill Top Drive, has been promoted to assistant manager of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company office at Cambridge.

Keyser Librarian Offers Advice For Christmas

KEYSER—Mrs. James T. Handlan, regional librarian, suggests that now is the time for residents of the Keyser area to visit their public library for help with their Christmas holiday plans.

She said Schauffler's "American Holiday" series, "The Fireside Book of Christmas Stories" and "Poems for Our Holidays" are books that will supply materials for a Yuletide play or program.

Since music is an integral part of holiday celebrations, she said the library can supply literature on early English Christmas carols, and music and worship in the church.

She said for those interested in adding an extra delicacy to the food trays there is a large assortment of cook books available with helpful suggestions for refreshments and entertainments in many party-planning books now on the shelves.

Home decorating for the holidays is amply covered in the many books concerning flower arranging to be found in the library. There is also a publication on "Arranging Flowers for the Sanctuary" which should be helpful to those who help with church decorations during the Holy Season.

The library is open Monday through Friday from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.; on Wednesday from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m., and Saturday from 9 a. m. to noon.

The bookmobile will continue its tour throughout the county according to the following schedule:

Wednesday: Smith's house at Reese's Mill, 9:30 to 10:30 a. m.; intersection of Routes 46 and 28, Fort Ashby, 11 a. m. to 1 p. m.; Limestone Road (near the school), 2:30 to 3:30 p. m.

Thursday: Ridgeley, 10 to 11 a. m.; Furnace Acres, 12:30 to 1 p. m.; outskirts of Patterson's Creek, 2:15 to 3:30 p. m.

Friday: Model Home, Fire Hall, and Graceland, all at Short Gap, 9:40 to 10:10 a. m.; 10:15 to 10:45 and 10:50 to 11:10. It will visit Johnson's Restaurant at Wiley Ford from 12:30 to 1:15 p. m. and the Fire Hall from 1:15 to 1:30.

Keyser Librarian Offers Advice For Christmas

KEYSER—Mrs. James T. Handlan, regional librarian, suggests that now is the time for residents of the Keyser area to visit their public library for help with their Christmas holiday plans.

She said Schauffler's "American Holiday" series, "The Fireside Book of Christmas Stories" and "Poems for Our Holidays" are books that will supply materials for a Yuletide play or program.

Since music is an integral part of holiday celebrations, she said the library can supply literature on early English Christmas carols, and music and worship in the church.

She said for those interested in adding an extra delicacy to the food trays there is a large assortment of cook books available with helpful suggestions for refreshments and entertainments in many party-planning books now on the shelves.

Home decorating for the holidays is amply covered in the many books concerning flower arranging to be found in the library. There is also a publication on "Arranging Flowers for the Sanctuary" which should be helpful to those who help with church decorations during the Holy Season.

The library is open Monday through Friday from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.; on Wednesday from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m., and Saturday from 9 a. m. to noon.

The bookmobile will continue its tour throughout the county according to the following schedule:

Wednesday: Smith's house at Reese's Mill, 9:30 to 10:30 a. m.; intersection of Routes 46 and 28, Fort Ashby, 11 a. m. to 1 p. m.; Limestone Road (near the school), 2:30 to 3:30 p. m.

Thursday: Ridgeley, 10 to 11 a. m.; Furnace Acres, 12:30 to 1 p. m.; outskirts of Patterson's Creek, 2:15 to 3:30 p. m.

Friday: Model Home, Fire Hall, and Graceland, all at Short Gap, 9:40 to 10:10 a. m.; 10:15 to 10:45 and 10:50 to 11:10. It will visit Johnson's Restaurant at Wiley Ford from 12:30 to 1:15 p. m. and the Fire Hall from 1:15 to 1:30.

Radio Receiving Station Slated At Sugar Grove

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — The site of the Navy's abandoned radio telescope project at Sugar Grove, W.Va., will be used for Naval communications facilities it was announced Tuesday.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd and Sen. Jennings Randolph, both D-W. Va., announced from Washington that the Defense Department plans to move radio-receiving facilities to Sugar Grove from the Navy Communications Center at Cheltenham, Md.

Byrd and Randolph said they were advised by the Defense Department that the relocation was planned because of deterioration of radio reception at Cheltenham. This was blamed on metropolitan expansion in Prince Georges County, Md., and growth of conflicting activity at Andrews Air Force Base.

Some $52 million already had been spent on construction of a 600-foot radio telescope for the Navy at Sugar Grove when Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced that the project was being shelved. Since then, state officials and West Virginia's congressional delegation have been seeking an alternate use for the facilities.

Byrd and Randolph said they were informed the relocation plans will involve maintaining a staff of about 80 military and 10 civilian personnel at Sugar Grove.

Sugar Grove is in an isolated, mountain-hemmed valley in eastern West Virginia, near the Virginia border.

In Washington, a Navy spokesman said some buildings and equipment of the telescope project would be utilized for the radio receiving station and most of the acreage will be needed for locating the antenna network. The spokesman was unable to estimate immediately how much of the federal investment in the telescope project would be salvaged.

Lonaconing Church Acquires Property

Property in Lonaconing, where St. Mary's Catholic Church and rectory are located, has been deeded to the Archbishop of Baltimore by the George's Creek Land and Coal Company.

The deed, which was recorded Monday in the land records office at the Allegany County Court House, indicated that the land had been leased for a 99-year period effective May 24, 1865.

The land transaction was between the company and the Most Rev. Lawrence J. Shehan, Archbishop of Baltimore.

The deed stipulates that the company reserves the right to all coal, clay and other minerals as well as all oil and gas on the land and has the right to mine the minerals and haul them to market.

Two parcels of land are included in the deed, one parcel being on the east side of St. Mary's Terrace and the other on the west side of Oak Street and east from the church.

Four Expense Reports Filed

Four more campaign expense statements, not previously reported, have been filed in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

William Walsh, unsuccessful Democratic candidate for State Senate, reported contributions of $1,035 but expenditures of $1,715.12.

Paul W. Barnett, who served as treasurer for Mr. Walsh's campaign, filed a separate report which listed expenditures of $1,317.37 which were balanced by contributions with $217.37 from the candidate himself.

William B. Orndorff, Allegany County tax collector who was the unsuccessful Democratic candidate for clerk of Circuit Court, listed contributions of $200 but expenditures of $627.89.

John R. Hutzell of Mt. Savage, a defeated Democratic candidate for the House of Delegates, filed a report showing expenditures of $264.80 but no contributions.

District 6 Forces Ready For Winter

District 6 of the Maryland State Roads Commission is ready for the winter, according to John D. Bushby, district engineer.

He said all snow fences have been placed in Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties and that snow fighting equipment is in top shape.

Most of the contract jobs over the district, he said, are on a shut-down status, with contractors working only as weather permits.

$2,000 Requested For Law Library

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris yesterday sent a letter to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners requesting that a check for $2,000 be sent to Clerk of Court Joseph E. Boden for use in paying current bills incurred in operation of the law library at the Court House.

The letter was turned over to the county auditor for action.

7 Of Small's Contributors Not Small

BALTIMORE (AP(— Seven persons named on the list of contributors to the gubernatorial campaign of Frank Small Jr. are listed as giving more than the $2,500 allowed by state law.

Both Small, the unsuccessful GOP candidate, and Carlton E. Pyles, his campaign treasurer, said they thought the limit was $5,000.

"We obviously would not have taken it if we had known $2,500 was the maximum," Small said. "If we're wrong, we're wrong."

According to the statement of contributions filed by Pyles in Prince Georges County Circuit Court, these persons gave more than $2,500:

Grace Small (Small's wife), $5,000; Sherman Hollingsworth, $5,000; T. Calvin Owens, $5,000; Robert Beall, $5,000; Alvin Beall, $4,475, and Lester C. Hale, $3,000 and Pyles, $5,000.

The law provides for a maximum fine of $1,000 or one year in prison or both for violation of the limit.

It will be up to William Kahler, Prince Georges County states' attorney, to prosecute any violators since the expenditure statement was filed there.

Grain elevators in Minneapolis have storage capacities of 128,500,000 bushels, largest in the country.

If you think today's cars have a lot in common, credit the Ford sketches above. For these ideas sparked a revolution in car design that's reflected wherever you look on the American road.

Ford ideas have a habit of being exciting—practical, too. Consider the innovations found only in our '63s. There is Ford Galaxie's smooth new velvet ride. Radio Receiving Station Slated At Sugar Grove

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — The site of the Navy's abandoned radio telescope project at Sugar Grove, W.Va., will be used for Naval communications facilities it was announced Tuesday.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd and Sen. Jennings Randolph, both D-W. Va., announced from Washington that the Defense Department plans to move radio-receiving facilities to Sugar Grove from the Navy Communications Center at Cheltenham, Md.

Byrd and Randolph said they were advised by the Defense Department that the relocation was planned because of deterioration of radio reception at Cheltenham. This was blamed on metropolitan expansion in Prince Georges County, Md., and growth of conflicting activity at Andrews Air Force Base.

Some $52 million already had been spent on construction of a 600-foot radio telescope for the Navy at Sugar Grove when Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced that the project was being shelved. Since then, state officials and West Virginia's congressional delegation have been seeking an alternate use for the facilities.

Byrd and Randolph said they were informed the relocation plans will involve maintaining a staff of about 80 military and 10 civilian personnel at Sugar Grove.

Sugar Grove is in an isolated, mountain-hemmed valley in eastern West Virginia, near the Virginia border.

In Washington, a Navy spokesman said some buildings and equipment of the telescope project would be utilized for the radio receiving station and most of the acreage will be needed for locating the antenna network. The spokesman was unable to estimate immediately how much of the federal investment in the telescope project would be salvaged.

Lonaconing Church Acquires Property

Property in Lonaconing, where St. Mary's Catholic Church and rectory are located, has been deeded to the Archbishop of Baltimore by the George's Creek Land and Coal Company.

The deed, which was recorded Monday in the land records office at the Allegany County Court House, indicated that the land had been leased for a 99-year period effective May 24, 1865.

The land transaction was between the company and the Most Rev. Lawrence J. Shehan, Archbishop of Baltimore.

The deed stipulates that the company reserves the right to all coal, clay and other minerals as well as all oil and gas on the land and has the right to mine the minerals and haul them to market.

Two parcels of land are included in the deed, one parcel being on the east side of St. Mary's Terrace and the other on the west side of Oak Street and east from the church.

Four Expense Reports Filed

Four more campaign expense statements, not previously reported, have been filed in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

William Walsh, unsuccessful Democratic candidate for State Senate, reported contributions of $1,035 but expenditures of $1,715.12.

Paul W. Barnett, who served as treasurer for Mr. Walsh's campaign, filed a separate report which listed expenditures of $1,317.37 which were balanced by contributions with $217.37 from the candidate himself.

William B. Orndorff, Allegany County tax collector who was the unsuccessful Democratic candidate for clerk of Circuit Court, listed contributions of $200 but expenditures of $627.89.

John R. Hutzell of Mt. Savage, a defeated Democratic candidate for the House of Delegates, filed a report showing expenditures of $264.80 but no contributions.

Giant Of Science Dies At Age 77

Another giant has gone down before the relentless march of mortality. Since the death of Einstein, Niels Bohr has been recognized by many as the greatest philosopher-scientist. Now he has died at the age of 77.

But the atomic age, into which Bohr and Einstein did so much to project the world, survives them.

Today, as the world cowers beneath the threat of nuclear annihilation, it is easy to blame the Einsteins and the Bohrs for creating a Frankenstein monster. But a moment had been reached in history when, if the free world had not been first to create an atomic bomb, the dictators would have beaten them to it and held all mankind for ransom.

Dr. Bohr's concern was with basic science. He was at Los Alamos for a time, but he served there as a consultant on underlying principles, leaving practical applications to technical men.

The atomic bomb and its more powerful successor are the practical applications of two principles which he worked out and refined with the collaboration of others. One was the structure of the atom, the other was the quantum theory. His work won him the Nobel Prize for physics in 1922, when he was 37.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Business Of Congress

Here is a law, duly passed by the House of Representatives and duly signed by the President and undoubtedly investigated by a Congressional Committee and by experts in various government departments. It reads:

". . . That the Administrator of General Services is hereby authorized to dispose of, by negotiation or otherwise, approximately four thousand tons of chestnut extract now held in the national stockpile. Such disposition may be made without regard to the provisions of section 3 of the Strategic and Critical Materials Stock Piling Act, relating to dispositions on the basis of a revised determination pursuant to section 2 of said Act, to the effect that no such disposition shall be made until six months after publication in the Federal Register and transmission to the Congress and to the Armed Services Committees thereof of a notice of the proposed disposition."

In the first place why do we stockpile chestnut extract? I can understand stockpiling a few chestnuts to make sure that there is ample traditional stuffing for the turkey, but what is chestnut extract used for? Is it essential to any war we might get into? Maybe it is a dye to use on Fidel Castro's beard? Maybe it is used for camouflage? But it must be important, for it is preserved under the Strategic and Critical Materials Stock Piling Act, which means that it must either be used for war purposes or to feed our population in case of war or for some other good purpose. Meanwhile, the American taxpayer is paying to keep the thing stockpiled and I, as a taxpayer, am glad to see some of it come out.

I have just discovered, for my sins, that chestnut extract is a fluid extracted from the leaves of the chestnut tree and which, I am told, contains cocaine. Everyday, it is possible to learn something new about things like this, but why do we stockpile it, why do we release 4,000 tons of the extract? Who wants it?

Now, my point is that it took me considerable time, including an unanswered telephone call to a chemical company in Maywood, New Jersey, to find out what this substance is, who uses it, what is the value of it, and why anyone needs 4,000 tons of it with sufficient eagerness to have an Act of Congress passed.

Congress had no time to pass the Smathers Bill, purifying the State Department but it does have time to worry itself about chestnut extract. How many members of Congress have ever heard about chestnut extract? How many, having read this bill, took the trouble to discover whether it is used for tanning or drinking or for some other purpose?

If I were a member of Congress, I would never vote for a measure that I knew nothing about. But then why should I be asked to vote for a detail like chestnut extract? Congress should pass legislation laying down the ground rules, and expect them to be carried out by pertinent officials, of whom we have too many with nothing to do. Congress should keep a watch-dog eye on these public officials who usually cover their incompetence, as well as malfeasance, by claiming the Executive Privilege, which like the separation of church and state argument, is used for a multitude of irrelevant reasons.

I call attention to these petty bills because it ought to be one of the functions of each member of Congress to spend plenty of time among their own citizenry so that they might be truly representative. A vacation from Congress between just before Thanksgiving to just after New Year's Day is not sufficient for any man to know much about his own constituents, their needs and wants. For instance, New Jersey contains an important center for pharmaceutical and small chemical industries. Many of the achievements of the New Jersey companies are being stolen by agents of Italian competitors. This has been duly investigated and brought into the courts.

How many members of Congress, voting on tariff bills or on measures related to GATT or to any of our foreign relations, know about this Italian thievery which costs American firms millions of dollars and deprives American workers of work? How many of them have done anything about this form of commercial piracy?

In a word, there are important tasks for Congress and it should not be involved in trivial legislation.

Ex-Newspaperman Arthur Sylvester Cracks Down On Former Colleagues

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — There is much more than meets the eye in the row between the press and the Pentagon over news censorship for which the President is getting his ears pinned back by some irate members of the fourth estate.

On the surface it is a feud between Arthur Sylvester, Assistant Secretary of Defense, and his former buddies of the Gridiron Club et al of which he was an alert and eager-beaver member while covering Washington for the Newark (N.J.) News.

When the shoe is on the other foot with newspapermen they are always tough on their own profession, and Art Sylvester, now the harassed but dedicated bureaucrat, has been both efficient and tough in cracking down on military news leaks to his former colleagues.

In this he has the full support of the President, with whom he toured New Hampshire in the snow and sleet of that early 1960 primary when nobody really took John F. Kennedy seriously except himself, his father, and a few people like Art Sylvester. JFK remembers this and is not one to go back on old friends.

But much more important with JFK than friendship and more important to the country than a mere squabble between an ex-newspaperman and his former colleagues is the basic question of whether the U.S. military remain part of the civilian government loyal to their commander-in-chief.

Undercutting The Republicans

Let it be noted at the outset that, in my opinion, some 90 per cent of the military are loyal, devoted, underpaid public servants ready to give everything for their country. But there is a small, vocal and at times powerful minority which has grown of late, which has grown of late, which has barged into the job of foreign policy as if they considered themselves the secretary of state and have undercut their commander-in-chief as if they were generals of the Argentine army undercutting President Frodisi.

This has happened just as much under Republican presidents as under the present Democrat; though Republican congressmen who now accuse Kennedy of censorship forget that fact.

I vividly recall Adm. Joseph M. Reeves leaking to the press during the Coolidge naval conference in Geneva and together with William Baldwin Shearer (paid $40,000 by the steel companies and the shipbuilders) trying to undercut the disarmament policies of the civilian commander-in-chief, a Republican.

And I recall in the Hoover Administration how Adm. Hilary P. Jones growled privately to newsmen about the arms reduction policies of his commander-in-chief, also a Republican, thereby causing disruptive news stories to be published such as those which President Kennedy and Assistant Defense Secretary Sylvester today seek to prevent.

Under both Truman and Eisenhower this barging of the military into foreign policy increased. The most spectacular case was Gen. Douglas MacArthur's undercutting of President Truman's foreign policy regarding Formosa which ended in his dismissal.

Much more important, though less spectacular, has been the huge public relations budget handed the military to promote more armament and disruptive news that justify armament. The military this year has $31,000,000 to spend on public relations to educate the country on war while the State Department has a budget of only $1,500,000 to educate the country on ways to win the peace.

This vast military public relations budget is why some editors, chiefly of the Scripps-Howard chain, are crabbing because newsmen were not given junkets to Guantanamo during the Cuban crisis. In the past the Pentagon has been so lavish with these public relations junkets that a correspondent could get a personally conducted tour to Thailand and back, all expenses paid, in order to glorify American armed might.

This is not by way of saying that much of our military achievements should not be praised or even glorified. I repeat that some 90 per cent of the American military are devoted, and dedicated.

But I also repeat that they have no business leaking stories either to the press or to congressmen who undercut the peace efforts of their commander-in-chief and his secretary of state during a delicate negotiation over missiles in Cuba, or for that matter at any other time.

No Ordinary American

Astronaut John Glenn stopped off at a Washington restaurant the other day with Press Aide Ford Eastman. The waiter took their orders, scribbled something on his pad, then thrust a note under Glenn's nose.

"I'm just an ordinary American with seven kids, and I'd like to have your autograph for them," the note read.

As Glenn wrote his autograph for the waiter, he declared: "There's no such thing as an ordinary American."

After-Effect Of Cuba In Communist World

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

The Chinese Communist cease-fire on the Indian border is being more diversely interpreted, more contradictorily explained, than any major development of the last 16 years.

To the list of explanations already offered, one more is worth adding, because it is favored by the ablest American experts on the affairs of the Communist bloc. These men suspect that the Soviets stopped the Chinese dead in their tracks, by threatening to withhold the Russian petroleum deliveries on which China still very heavily depends.

As yet, there is not a shred of factual evidence to support this theory, or any of the other prevalent theories either, for that matter. The theory of the Soviet experts is interesting, nonetheless — all the more so because of the marked resemblance between the strange cease-fire on the Indian border and the cease-fire at Quemoy in 1958, which the Russians certainly forced on the Chinese.

Whatever produced the Indian cease-fire, it completes what may be called the post-Cuba pause. To all intents and purposes, the Cuban affair itself has now been liquidated. The oratory at the UN still has to be got through, but that seems likely to be even more inconsequential than most UN oratory.

What has not been liquidated, however, is the political after-effect of the Cuban affair. The after-effect has been especially powerful, as might have been expected, in the Communist half of the world. In recent days, its power has been demonstrated at the Hungarian Communist Party Congress in Budapest.

Here the scenes of the Bulgarian party meeting in Sofia have been replayed, in the manner of an angry repeat of an angry Punch-and-Judy show. A vicious attack on the "revisionist" policies of Nikita S. Khrushchev was delivered by the Chinese delegate, Wu Hsiuchuan. An even more vicious reply was made by the Hungarian party boss, Janos Kadar. The Chinese then walked out. The Congress is likely to end with further downgrading of potentionally pro-Chinese Hungarian "Stalinists."

Another repeat of the Punch-and-Judy show is to be expected soon at the Czech Party Congress in Prague, where the official party paper, Rude Pravo, has just come down hard on Khrushchev's side in the Sino-Soviet row. Here there may be considerable added drama, if there is any substance to the persistent reports from Warsaw of an oncoming thorough purge of Stalinists in the obstinately Stalinist Czech party.

In Moscow, meanwhile, the Central Committee meeting has ended with a significant decision to cut heavy industrial investment in favor of investments in agriculture, and to reorganize the whole economy on lines proposed by Khrushchev.

There was every indication that Khrushchev was completely in the saddle at this meeting, with no one to challenge him from any quarter. It remains to be seen whether Khrushche in the saddle means an eventual open break between Moscow and Peking. That may come, but no one knows.

What is apparent is that Khrushchev, with his home base secure, is hard at work picking up the post-Cuba pieces all oer the rest of the Communist world.

The first stage of this process is the political tidy-up that is now in progress. Precisely because a setback has been experienced, dissidence can no longer be tolerated. Hence, dissidents, open and potential, are being eliminated, in the European satellite parties first of all. Where this is possible, one may expect other Communist parties to be briskly tidied up later on. Even the Soviet party leadership may not be immune, over the long run.

What to do about China is clearly the central problem of this first stage. By the same token, what to do about Berlin is likely to be the central problem of the second stage, in which Khrushchev will have to decide how to adjust the broad lines of Soviet foreign policy in the light of the Cuban experience.

The Berlin decision may well be affected by the decision on China. For if Khrushche dares to react to Peking's extreme provocations by an open break with the Chinese comrades, he may also dare, perhaps, to depart rather radically from other rigid attitudes of the past.

The entire process, of political tidying within the bloc and policy-adjustment beyond the bloc's borders, will not and cannot be swiftly completed. The present pause may therefore be expected to endure, with luck, for two, or three, or even four months. But in January, February, or March, President Kennedy and the other Western leaders will have to be ready for the end of the pause.

At that time, Khrushchev will have to move, either towards serious co-existence or renewed belligerence. He cannot stay indefinitely where he is now, or on dead center; but none can now be sure which way he will go.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

OLD GAME—Some Washington circles are concerned that the Kennedy administration is permitting some of the psychological advantage it gained in the Cuban crisis to dwindle away.

They feel that the White House and the U. S. delegation to the United Nations are falling victim to an old Communist tactic—endless stalling under the guise of negotiation.

While the United States is still insisting on inspection in line with Soviet Premier Khrushchev's promise concerning removal of offensive weapons from Cuban soil, it is apparent that no amount of inspection at this late date can absolutely confirm the withdrawal. Obviously, inspection is becoming a moot point, although the Russians continue to negotiate about it in the United Nations.

There are influential persons in Washington who believe that the United States should have backed up its position with a firm deadline for compliance with Mr. K's promise. And that the U. S. should have taken action if compliance was not forthcoming in time for inspection to be meaningful.

LONGEST DAY—When industry wants to fill a rush of orders it sometimes goes on a three-shift, 24-hour day. But it takes the government to top that.

The Bureau of Printing and Engraving is running three eight-hour shifts to produce some 18 billion five-cent stamps and 1.2 billion eight-cent airmail stamps which must be ready for sale around the country January 1.

The operation also utilizes extra press crews to keep the presses rolling during the three daily 30-minute lunch breaks. And this figures up to a 25½-hour work day on the time sheets.

Now, if they could only figure out some way to arrange an eight-day week, everything would get out on schedule!

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

The waiting room was in pastel green. The rug was gold. There were sofas and wing chairs and end tables and, near the picture window, a spiral cage full of parakeets. Four woman sat waiting. Two read old magazines. One, very young, looked down at her purse and wept silently. The fourth one, a jaded blonde, chewed gum and watched the young one.

These two would, in a short time, constitute a riddle. The young one had already been in to see the doctor. When she came out, she sat thinking for awhile. Then the tears had started. She had black hair in a short bob and, coupled with the huge brimming eyes, it made her look younger than the 18 or 17 she was.

The doctor came into the room for a moment. He beckoned to the older blonde. She grinned, still chewing her gum, and went inside. In 15 minutes, she was out. As she picked up her effects, the young one got up to leave. In a moment, they were out on the sidewalk, standing in the glare of two coach lamps on the lawn.

"Kid," the older one said, "you got a problem." The young girl looked up resentfully. The big blonde patted a wisp of hair in place. "Tell me to mind my own business," she said, "but I know why you were in there and I'll bet I know the problem."

The young one began to cry in earnest. She blew her nose into a little hanky. "In the first place," said the big blonde, "he ain't no doctor. The real doctors took his license away years ago. In the second place, he wants $300 to help you with your problem, and you ain't go three hundred."

The young one looked up, surprised. "Five hundred," she said. The blonde sighed and stuck her hand out. "My name is Tessie. The rest of it doesn't matter." The young one held a small hand out timidly. "Clara," she said. The blonde suggested a cup of coffee. They walked two blocks to a bus stop and stepped into a well-lighted cafeteria. It didn't require much to get the little one to talk.

Once she started, Tessie had trouble stopping her. Clara's family was average. A father who worked for the city; two older brothers; a mother who was always complaining. Clara had a boy friend. They had many dates. They talked of marriage, window-shopped for furniture. He even bought a cheap ring for her.

Clara trusted him. Completely. The moment she used the word "completely," Tessie asked her how long ago that was. The kid told her. Within a week, the boy friend had provoked an argument, took his ring back, and told the kid he was through with her forever. "Now," the young girl said, "my problem is . . ."

"Never mind your problem, honey," the big blonde said. "I knew that in the waiting room. Maybe I can help you. Then again, maybe I can't." She chuckled. "I have made all the mistakes there are. Too late, I know all the answers. Now I'm the kind of woman who would horrify your mother—if she knew, I mean."

"Nobody can help me to get $500," the young one said.

"That quack is robbing you, honey," the older one said. "His fee is three hundred. He examined you and told you that you need his services at once. Right? He also told you that if you wait another week or two it will be too late? Right? And he also said he could not help you unless you brought the five hundred in cash."

The young one looked up in surprise. "It's as though you were listening," she said. The big blonde put a sisterly arm around the kid, then thought better of it. "You got $10?" she said. Clara nooded.

"Then come with me," she said. "You're so damned innocent I don't think you know anything." The young one asked where they were going.

"Don't ask questions," the big blonde said. "Either trust me or go home and cry your little heart out. I'm taking you to a gynecologist."

"What's that?" the kid said. "A doctor," Tessie said. "A real doctor. A man with moral values and integrity. For the lousy ten dollars, he may even give you a thousand dollars worth of good counsel." The big blonde shook her head. "Oh to be a kid again and know what I know now."

They went to a doctor's office. When the kid came out, her eyes were wide with disbelief. "He says nothing is wrong," the young girl said. "Nothing." The big blonde grinned. She linked her arm with that of the child she would never see again. "You're my good deed for today," she said.

Persistent Nosebleed Difficult To Treat

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Several months ago I called a specialist to ask whether he could see a friend of mine whose nose was bleeding. "Of course," he said, "But I'm not happy about it." I found out later why he felt that way.

My friend spent more than an hour in the treatment room. The physician's office was crowded and these patients were annoyed at having to wait so long. The specialist began by searching for the bleeding point and found it on the septum, halfway up the nose. After application of pressure for a few minutes failed, he cauterized the bleeding vessel with silver nitrate and said to the patient, "Sit still for 10 minutes and we will see if the cauterization holds."

At the end of that period, slight oozing was still present and there was no alternative except to pack the nose. This takes time, when done properly, and our specialist did the job properly, despite the pressure of a full office. Bleeding stopped and when the pack was removed two days later, he said, "Cross your fingers while I remove the pack. Hemorrhage may return."

This explains what the specialist meant when he said he was not happy about taking care of this type of problem. Most nosebleeds stop spontaneously after applying ice packs and pinching the nostrils. But the condition is more troublesome when hemorrhage continues. A more thorough examination is required to find the cause and stop bleeding at the source. One out of 10 victims must be hospitalized.

The most common causes of nosebleed are injury from blowing or picking off crusts that form when the membranes are dry. This is avoided by keeping the lining of the nostrils soft with a small amount of petrolatum jelly or mineral oil.

Nosebleed also occurs in victims of high blood pressure and arteriosclerosis. It may prove a blessing in disguise because it is better to have a ruptured blood vessel in the nose than in the brain.

The formidable wife of a henpecked worm told an insurance salesman, "Let me be sure if I've got this right. You say that if my husband dies within even one year, I'll get the full fifty thousand dollars mentioned on Page One of this policy?" "Absolutely," the salesman assured her. A stranger stopped his car to watch the odd behavior of a fisherman on a river bank. First he hooked a big pike, but threw it back. Then he landed a beautiful large trout, but threw it back, too. Finally he reeled in a tiny perch, and with a grunt of satisfaction, deposited it in his bag.

The stranger couldn't resist calling out, "Why on earth did you throw those two big ones back and keep this tiny one?" The fisherman explained tersely, "Small frying pan."

Giant Of Science Dies At Age 77

Another giant has gone down before the relentless march of mortality. Since the death of Einstein, Niels Bohr has been recognized by many as the greatest philosopher-scientist. Now he has died at the age of 77.

But the atomic age, into which Bohr and Einstein did so much to project the world, survives them.

Today, as the world cowers beneath the threat of nuclear annihilation, it is easy to blame the Einsteins and the Bohrs for creating a Frankenstein monster. But a moment had been reached in history when, if the free world had not been first to create an atomic bomb, the dictators would have beaten them to it and held all mankind for ransom.

Dr. Bohr's concern was with basic science. He was at Los Alamos for a time, but he served there as a consultant on underlying principles, leaving practical applications to technical men.

The atomic bomb and its more powerful successor are the practical applications of two principles which he worked out and refined with the collaboration of others. One was the structure of the atom, the other was the quantum theory. His work won him the Nobel Prize for physics in 1922, when he was 37.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Business Of Congress

Here is a law, duly passed by the House of Representatives and duly signed by the President and undoubtedly investigated by a Congressional Committee and by experts in various government departments. It reads:

". . . That the Administrator of General Services is hereby authorized to dispose of, by negotiation or otherwise, approximately four thousand tons of chestnut extract now held in the national stockpile. Such disposition may be made without regard to the provisions of section 3 of the Strategic and Critical Materials Stock Piling Act, relating to dispositions on the basis of a revised determination pursuant to section 2 of said Act, to the effect that no such disposition shall be made until six months after publication in the Federal Register and transmission to the Congress and to the Armed Services Committees thereof of a notice of the proposed disposition."

In the first place why do we stockpile chestnut extract? I can understand stockpiling a few chestnuts to make sure that there is ample traditional stuffing for the turkey, but what is chestnut extract used for? Is it essential to any war we might get into? Maybe it is a dye to use on Fidel Castro's beard? Maybe it is used for camouflage? But it must be important, for it is preserved under the Strategic and Critical Materials Stock Piling Act, which means that it must either be used for war purposes or to feed our population in case of war or for some other good purpose. Meanwhile, the American taxpayer is paying to keep the thing stockpiled and I, as a taxpayer, am glad to see some of it come out.

I have just discovered, for my sins, that chestnut extract is a fluid extracted from the leaves of the chestnut tree and which, I am told, contains cocaine. Everyday, it is possible to learn something new about things like this, but why do we stockpile it, why do we release 4,000 tons of the extract? Who wants it?

Now, my point is that it took me considerable time, including an unanswered telephone call to a chemical company in Maywood, New Jersey, to find out what this substance is, who uses it, what is the value of it, and why anyone needs 4,000 tons of it with sufficient eagerness to have an Act of Congress passed.

Congress had no time to pass the Smathers Bill, purifying the State Department but it does have time to worry itself about chestnut extract. How many members of Congress have ever heard about chestnut extract? How many, having read this bill, took the trouble to discover whether it is used for tanning or drinking or for some other purpose?

If I were a member of Congress, I would never vote for a measure that I knew nothing about. But then why should I be asked to vote for a detail like chestnut extract? Congress should pass legislation laying down the ground rules, and expect them to be carried out by pertinent officials, of whom we have too many with nothing to do. Congress should keep a watch-dog eye on these public officials who usually cover their incompetence, as well as malfeasance, by claiming the Executive Privilege, which like the separation of church and state argument, is used for a multitude of irrelevant reasons.

I call attention to these petty bills because it ought to be one of the functions of each member of Congress to spend plenty of time among their own citizenry so that they might be truly representative. A vacation from Congress between just before Thanksgiving to just after New Year's Day is not sufficient for any man to know much about his own constituents, their needs and wants. For instance, New Jersey contains an important center for pharmaceutical and small chemical industries. Many of the achievements of the New Jersey companies are being stolen by agents of Italian competitors. This has been duly investigated and brought into the courts.

How many members of Congress, voting on tariff bills or on measures related to GATT or to any of our foreign relations, know about this Italian thievery which costs American firms millions of dollars and deprives American workers of work? How many of them have done anything about this form of commercial piracy?

In a word, there are important tasks for Congress and it should not be involved in trivial legislation.

Ex-Newspaperman Arthur Sylvester Cracks Down On Former Colleagues

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — There is much more than meets the eye in the row between the press and the Pentagon over news censorship for which the President is getting his ears pinned back by some irate members of the fourth estate.

On the surface it is a feud between Arthur Sylvester, Assistant Secretary of Defense, and his former buddies of the Gridiron Club et al of which he was an alert and eager-beaver member while covering Washington for the Newark (N.J.) News.

When the shoe is on the other foot with newspapermen they are always tough on their own profession, and Art Sylvester, now the harassed but dedicated bureaucrat, has been both efficient and tough in cracking down on military news leaks to his former colleagues.

In this he has the full support of the President, with whom he toured New Hampshire in the snow and sleet of that early 1960 primary when nobody really took John F. Kennedy seriously except himself, his father, and a few people like Art Sylvester. JFK remembers this and is not one to go back on old friends.

But much more important with JFK than friendship and more important to the country than a mere squabble between an ex-newspaperman and his former colleagues is the basic question of whether the U.S. military remain part of the civilian government loyal to their commander-in-chief.

Undercutting The Republicans

Let it be noted at the outset that, in my opinion, some 90 per cent of the military are loyal, devoted, underpaid public servants ready to give everything for their country. But there is a small, vocal and at times powerful minority which has grown of late, which has grown of late, which has barged into the job of foreign policy as if they considered themselves the secretary of state and have undercut their commander-in-chief as if they were generals of the Argentine army undercutting President Frodisi.

This has happened just as much under Republican presidents as under the present Democrat; though Republican congressmen who now accuse Kennedy of censorship forget that fact.

I vividly recall Adm. Joseph M. Reeves leaking to the press during the Coolidge naval conference in Geneva and together with William Baldwin Shearer (paid $40,000 by the steel companies and the shipbuilders) trying to undercut the disarmament policies of the civilian commander-in-chief, a Republican.

And I recall in the Hoover Administration how Adm. Hilary P. Jones growled privately to newsmen about the arms reduction policies of his commander-in-chief, also a Republican, thereby causing disruptive news stories to be published such as those which President Kennedy and Assistant Defense Secretary Sylvester today seek to prevent.

Under both Truman and Eisenhower this barging of the military into foreign policy increased. The most spectacular case was Gen. Douglas MacArthur's undercutting of President Truman's foreign policy regarding Formosa which ended in his dismissal.

Much more important, though less spectacular, has been the huge public relations budget handed the military to promote more armament and disruptive news that justify armament. The military this year has $31,000,000 to spend on public relations to educate the country on war while the State Department has a budget of only $1,500,000 to educate the country on ways to win the peace.

This vast military public relations budget is why some editors, chiefly of the Scripps-Howard chain, are crabbing because newsmen were not given junkets to Guantanamo during the Cuban crisis. In the past the Pentagon has been so lavish with these public relations junkets that a correspondent could get a personally conducted tour to Thailand and back, all expenses paid, in order to glorify American armed might.

This is not by way of saying that much of our military achievements should not be praised or even glorified. I repeat that some 90 per cent of the American military are devoted, and dedicated.

But I also repeat that they have no business leaking stories either to the press or to congressmen who undercut the peace efforts of their commander-in-chief and his secretary of state during a delicate negotiation over missiles in Cuba, or for that matter at any other time.

No Ordinary American

Astronaut John Glenn stopped off at a Washington restaurant the other day with Press Aide Ford Eastman. The waiter took their orders, scribbled something on his pad, then thrust a note under Glenn's nose.

"I'm just an ordinary American with seven kids, and I'd like to have your autograph for them," the note read.

As Glenn wrote his autograph for the waiter, he declared: "There's no such thing as an ordinary American."

After-Effect Of Cuba In Communist World

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

The Chinese Communist cease-fire on the Indian border is being more diversely interpreted, more contradictorily explained, than any major development of the last 16 years.

To the list of explanations already offered, one more is worth adding, because it is favored by the ablest American experts on the affairs of the Communist bloc. These men suspect that the Soviets stopped the Chinese dead in their tracks, by threatening to withhold the Russian petroleum deliveries on which China still very heavily depends.

As yet, there is not a shred of factual evidence to support this theory, or any of the other prevalent theories either, for that matter. The theory of the Soviet experts is interesting, nonetheless — all the more so because of the marked resemblance between the strange cease-fire on the Indian border and the cease-fire at Quemoy in 1958, which the Russians certainly forced on the Chinese.

Whatever produced the Indian cease-fire, it completes what may be called the post-Cuba pause. To all intents and purposes, the Cuban affair itself has now been liquidated. The oratory at the UN still has to be got through, but that seems likely to be even more inconsequential than most UN oratory.

What has not been liquidated, however, is the political after-effect of the Cuban affair. The after-effect has been especially powerful, as might have been expected, in the Communist half of the world. In recent days, its power has been demonstrated at the Hungarian Communist Party Congress in Budapest.

Here the scenes of the Bulgarian party meeting in Sofia have been replayed, in the manner of an angry repeat of an angry Punch-and-Judy show. A vicious attack on the "revisionist" policies of Nikita S. Khrushchev was delivered by the Chinese delegate, Wu Hsiuchuan. An even more vicious reply was made by the Hungarian party boss, Janos Kadar. The Chinese then walked out. The Congress is likely to end with further downgrading of potentionally pro-Chinese Hungarian "Stalinists."

Another repeat of the Punch-and-Judy show is to be expected soon at the Czech Party Congress in Prague, where the official party paper, Rude Pravo, has just come down hard on Khrushchev's side in the Sino-Soviet row. Here there may be considerable added drama, if there is any substance to the persistent reports from Warsaw of an oncoming thorough purge of Stalinists in the obstinately Stalinist Czech party.

In Moscow, meanwhile, the Central Committee meeting has ended with a significant decision to cut heavy industrial investment in favor of investments in agriculture, and to reorganize the whole economy on lines proposed by Khrushchev.

There was every indication that Khrushchev was completely in the saddle at this meeting, with no one to challenge him from any quarter. It remains to be seen whether Khrushche in the saddle means an eventual open break between Moscow and Peking. That may come, but no one knows.

What is apparent is that Khrushchev, with his home base secure, is hard at work picking up the post-Cuba pieces all oer the rest of the Communist world.

The first stage of this process is the political tidy-up that is now in progress. Precisely because a setback has been experienced, dissidence can no longer be tolerated. Hence, dissidents, open and potential, are being eliminated, in the European satellite parties first of all. Where this is possible, one may expect other Communist parties to be briskly tidied up later on. Even the Soviet party leadership may not be immune, over the long run.

What to do about China is clearly the central problem of this first stage. By the same token, what to do about Berlin is likely to be the central problem of the second stage, in which Khrushchev will have to decide how to adjust the broad lines of Soviet foreign policy in the light of the Cuban experience.

The Berlin decision may well be affected by the decision on China. For if Khrushche dares to react to Peking's extreme provocations by an open break with the Chinese comrades, he may also dare, perhaps, to depart rather radically from other rigid attitudes of the past.

The entire process, of political tidying within the bloc and policy-adjustment beyond the bloc's borders, will not and cannot be swiftly completed. The present pause may therefore be expected to endure, with luck, for two, or three, or even four months. But in January, February, or March, President Kennedy and the other Western leaders will have to be ready for the end of the pause.

At that time, Khrushchev will have to move, either towards serious co-existence or renewed belligerence. He cannot stay indefinitely where he is now, or on dead center; but none can now be sure which way he will go.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

OLD GAME—Some Washington circles are concerned that the Kennedy administration is permitting some of the psychological advantage it gained in the Cuban crisis to dwindle away.

They feel that the White House and the U. S. delegation to the United Nations are falling victim to an old Communist tactic—endless stalling under the guise of negotiation.

While the United States is still insisting on inspection in line with Soviet Premier Khrushchev's promise concerning removal of offensive weapons from Cuban soil, it is apparent that no amount of inspection at this late date can absolutely confirm the withdrawal. Obviously, inspection is becoming a moot point, although the Russians continue to negotiate about it in the United Nations.

There are influential persons in Washington who believe that the United States should have backed up its position with a firm deadline for compliance with Mr. K's promise. And that the U. S. should have taken action if compliance was not forthcoming in time for inspection to be meaningful.

LONGEST DAY—When industry wants to fill a rush of orders it sometimes goes on a three-shift, 24-hour day. But it takes the government to top that.

The Bureau of Printing and Engraving is running three eight-hour shifts to produce some 18 billion five-cent stamps and 1.2 billion eight-cent airmail stamps which must be ready for sale around the country January 1.

The operation also utilizes extra press crews to keep the presses rolling during the three daily 30-minute lunch breaks. And this figures up to a 25½-hour work day on the time sheets.

Now, if they could only figure out some way to arrange an eight-day week, everything would get out on schedule!

The waiting room was in pastel green. The rug was gold. There were sofas and wing chairs and end tables and, near the picture window, a spiral cage full of parakeets. Four woman sat waiting. Two read old magazines. One, very young, looked down at her purse and wept silently. The fourth one, a jaded blonde, chewed gum and watched the young one.

These two would, in a short time, constitute a riddle. The young one had already been in to see the doctor. When she came out, she sat thinking for awhile. Then the tears had started. She had black hair in a short bob and, coupled with the huge brimming eyes, it made her look younger than the 18 or 17 she was.

The doctor came into the room for a moment. He beckoned to the older blonde. She grinned, still chewing her gum, and went inside. In 15 minutes, she was out. As she picked up her effects, the young one got up to leave. In a moment, they were out on the sidewalk, standing in the glare of two coach lamps on the lawn.

"Kid," the older one said, "you got a problem." The young girl looked up resentfully. The big blonde patted a wisp of hair in place. "Tell me to mind my own business," she said, "but I know why you were in there and I'll bet I know the problem."

The young one looked up, surprised. "Five hundred," she said. The blonde sighed and stuck her hand out. "My name is Tessie. The rest of it doesn't matter." "And within even a month?" "Yes, ma'am." "And if he dies the day after I sign up?" "Then, madam," said the salesman, snapping shut his briefcase, "I am confident you'll get the same 50,000—but they won't be dollars; they'll be volts."

A stranger stopped his car to watch the odd behavior of a fisherman on a river bank. First he hooked a big pike, but threw it back. Then he landed a beautiful large trout, but threw it back, too. Finally he reeled in a tiny perch, and with a grunt of satisfaction, deposited it in his bag.

The stranger couldn't resist calling out, "Why on earth did you throw those two big ones back and keep this tiny one?" The fisherman explained tersely, "Small frying pan."

Mets Purchase Wynn Hawkins, Phillies Trade Owens To Reds

Tribe Rejects Yankee Offer For Twirler

Owens, Problem Player, Swapped For Cookie Rojas

By NORMAN MILLER
UPI Sports Writer

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI)—The New York Mets purchased pitcher Wynn Hawkins from the Cleveland Indians Tuesday and the Philadelphia Phillies unloaded Jim Owens, long one of their problem players, in a pair of minor baseball deals.

Hawkins, a 26-year-old righthander who spent the past season in service, at Jacksonville of the International League, and Cleveland, was bought by the Mets for an estimated $25,000.

He came out of the service in May, compiled a 2-7 record and a 5.25 earned run average at Jacksonville, and then was recalled by the Indians in August. He won his only major league decision with Cleveland. Hawkins won four games and lost four for the Indians during his rookie 1960 season and had a 7-9 record in 1961.

The Indians sold Hawkins to the Mets after turning down an offer for him from the New York Yankees, General Manager Gabe Paul of Cleveland revealed.

"How could we send him to the club we have to fight for the pennant?" Paul asked. "I think you'll find that Hawkins is the best buy the Mets have made this year."

Owens, a 28-year-old righthander whose problems outweighed his promise with the Phils, was sent to the Cincinnati Reds in a trade for second baseman Cookie Rojas.

These deals, through not likely to shake up the balance of the major leagues next season, brought to eight the number of player transactions that have been completed at the current winter baseball meetings.

Active Trading Week

This week already has been marked by one of the most active swapping sprees during the past several baseball meetings and there were indications that several more deals would be completed, either here or in New York, where the meeting will shift Friday and Saturday.

In dealing to strengthen the Reds' second-line pitching, manager Fred Hutchinson assumed the task of straightening out Owens, who has been a problem pitcher ever since he compiled his best major league record of 12-12 in 1959.

"Owens simply outlived his usefulness for us," commented General Manager John Quinn of the Phils. "It was either make any deal we could for him or sell him for what we could get."

Quinn said he had excellent reports on the 23-year-old Rojas from Luis Olmo, former major leaguer who is managing in the Puerto Rican League, where Rojas is playing for Arricibo. Rojas, a good fielder, is working on switch-hitting in Puerto Rico.

Praised Highly

"To hear Olmo talk, you'd think we have another Red Schoendienst," Quinn smiled.

The-bright - lights escapades of Owens often got him in trouble. Owens jumped the club on more than one occasion and was suspended by the club during spring training of 1960 after he and some teammates were fined for staying out after curfew.

He rejoined the club in June and compiled a 4-14 record that season, won 5 games and lost 10 in 1961, and last season had a 2-4 record with a 6.37 earned run average in 23 appearances.

Rojas, a Mexican, started the 1962 season with the Reds and batted .221 in 39 games. He was sent to Dallas-Fort Worth of the American Association, where he hit .241 in 47 games.

This was the Reds' second trade within 14 hours. They acquired Harry Bright from the Washington Senators Monday night for first baseman Rogelio Alvarez.

On the business side of the baseball meetings, the possibility grew that the present three Triple-A leagues may be amalgamated to two circuits in 1963.

Under a proposal being considered, Denver would join the Pacific Coast League and a few other American Association franchises would be added to the International League.

ROMNEY HIGH GETS TROPHY — The Pioneers of Romney High School won the Potomac Valley Conference cross-country championship this year and at the recent meeting of the league Charles Freeland, principal of Capon Bridge High School and president of the circuit (right) is shown presenting the championship trophy to Coach Robert Sirk of the Hampshire county school. Romney had low score of 34 points. Beall was second, Elk Garden, third, and Paw Paw, fourth. Allen Hott, Romney, led the field of 32 harriers, covering the two mile course in 10 minutes, 46 seconds. Beall High had won the first two meets held by the P.V.C.

Baker Picked Over Mira On All-America

Bell Is Repeater On Coaches' Team

CHICAGO (UPI)—Terry Baker of Oregon State shaded George Mira of Miami (Fla.) and Tom Myers of Northwestern in a close battle as the nation's No. 1 quarterback on the 1962 all-America football team selected Tuesday by the American Football Coaches Association.

Picking the No. 1 quarterback was the "most difficult decision in the 1962 voting," according to Bill Murray, head football coach at Duke and president of the coaches association. Murray and some 250 coaches representing all the major colleges, took part in the balloting for the mythical eleven.

The coaches selected three men each from the south, midwest and far west and one each from the east and the southwest. They did their selecting on the basis of on-the-field observations, scouting report data and analysis of game movies.

Because of the heavy turn-over of talent due to graduation there was only one repeater from the coaches' 1961 team—tackle Bobby Bell of Minnesota.

Here are the 11 players chosen as the best in the land at their positions by the coaches association.

Ends — Pat Richter, Wisconsin, and Hal Bedsole, Southern California.

Tackles — Bell and Steve Barnett, Oregon.

Guards — Johnny Treadwell, Texas, and Rufus Guthrie, Georgia Tech.

Center — Lee Roy Jordan, Alabama.

Quarterback — Baker.

Halfbacks—Jerry Stovall, Louisiana State, and Roger Kochman, Penn State.

Fullback — George Saimes, Michigan State.

All of the members of the team are seniors with the exception of Bedsole, who is a junior.

The second team was made up of: ends, Dave Robinson, Penn State, and Hugh Campbell, Washington State; tackles, Jim Dunaway, Mississippi, and Bob Vogel, Ohio State; guards, Jack Cvercko, Northwestern, and Ray Mansfield, Washington; center, Dave Behrman, Michigan State; quarterback, Mira; halfbacks, Mel Renfro, Oregon, and Kermit Alexander, UCLA; and fullback, Bill Thornton, Nebraska.

The third team was comprised of: ends, Tom Hutchinson, Kentucky, and Vern Burke, Oregon State; tackles, Fred Miller, LSU, and Scott Appleton, Texas; guards, Don Brumm, Purdue, and Tom Hertz, Missouri; center, Don McKinnon, Dartmouth; quarterback, Myers; halfbacks, Eldon Fortie, Brigham Young, and Billy Gambrell, South Carolina; and Fullback, Ed Cummings, Stanford.

The coaches all-America is sponsored by the Eastman Kodak Company.

Game Fixer Lost Money, Player Told

Player Returned Part Of Bribe

NEW YORK (UPI) — A former College of the Pacific basketball player testified Tuesday at the bribery trial of Jacob Molinas that Molinas lost $40,000 to $60,000 on the outcome of a West Coast college basketball game in January, 1960.

The witness, Gary Kaufman, 24, of Brooklyn, said that Molinas, a 30-year-old lawyer, complained to Kaufman that he was "in hot water" due to his losses on the game.

Molinas, a former Columbia University basketball star, is being tried by jury in criminal division of state Supreme Court on charges of bribing a Bowling Green, Ohio, state university player to throw three games, conspiracy to fix 25 other college games and subornation of perjury.

Kaufman testified that he and another player were each offered by Molinas $1,000 to lose a college of the Pacific game against St. Mary's of California College on Jan. 12, 1960, by eight or more points. St. Mary's won by seven points, however, 61-54 and Molinas complained bitterly the witness said.

Kaufman said that neither he nor the other player received any money for the game itself but that Molinas had given him a deposit of $500. He said that when Molinas complained that he was "in hot water," he offered to return $300 to Molinas and gave it back to him the next day.

Basic cost of constructing the nuclear vessel Savannah was $35.6 million, with another $11.3 million added for other necessary appurtenances, training, administrative and construction support expenditures.

Bloody Brawl In Washington Investigated

Shane MacCarthy Heads Committee

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Former National Youth Fitness Director Shane MacCarthy headed a special citizens committee Tuesday to investigate a bloody brawl that followed a Thanksgiving Day high school football game here.

MacCarthy witnessed the riots which came after St. John's, a predominantly white high school, defeated Eastern High School, mostly Negro, 20-7 in a prep championship game in District Stadium.

His 14-year-old niece, he said, was slapped by a woman as they made their way to a parking lot through the battling fans after the game.

MacCarthy was director of the fitness program under former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. He was picked to head the special committee to look into the causes of the brawl by Washington School Superintendent Carl F. Hansen.

In addition to seeking the cause, the panel will make recommendations on how to prevent further such disturbances, which have marred four of the last five annual prep football playoffs.

MacCarthy said the committee would be made up of "nine or 10 citizens of stature" to be picked this week.

A prominent Negro newsman, meanwhile, deplored the riots and said the "explosion of hate stemmed mostly from my own people."

Simeon Booker, chief of the Washington bureau of Johnson Publishing Co., which publishes the Negro magazines Jet, Tan and Ebony, wrote that "the predominant number of offenders were Negro."

More than 41 persons were injured in the post-games riots, at least three hospitalized, and more than a dozen arrested by police.

Booker, in a letter to the Washington Post, said:

"My older son was pushed down and trampled as a group of Negroes chased a white boy. I could feel the hopelessness, the tragedy of parents who expected the game to be the highlight of a perfect Thanksgiving Day.

"But even in its ugliness this uprising wasn't entirely racial. A majority of the Negroes opposed the misconduct, many were hurt trying to defend whites."

Royals Top Knicks

NEW YORK (UPI) — Oscar Robertson scored 31 points while making 13 of 16 field goal attempts and added 15 assists Tuesday night to lead the Cincinnati Royals to a 139-129 victory over the New York Knickerbockers in the second game of a National Basketball Association doubleheader.

Rens Win, 98-95

McKEESPORT, Pa. (UPI) — Connie Hawkins and Jim McCoy teamed up to give the Pittsburgh Rens a 98-95 American Basketball League victory over the Philadelphia Tapers here Tuesday night.

Hawkins, the leading scorer in the ABL last season, registered 27 points to top both teams and McCoy followed with 23.

Allegany Community College Opens Cage Season Tonight

Trojans To Host Frostburg State Fraternity Squad

Allegany Community College opens its 1962-63 basketball campaign tonight in a "tune-up" battle against Sigma Tau Gamma Fraternity of Frostburg State Teachers College. Tipoff time for the contest on the ACC floor is 8 p.m.

Alan Stockholm, former East Stroudsburg (Pa.) College two-sport star, makes his debut in the coaching ranks in today's battle. Last year, ACC floored a team in the school's first year of operation and posted a 6-8 record under coach John Bailey.

Ronnie Riggs, only returnee from last year's squad, will serve as co-captain of the Trojan cagers along with Bob Wright, a June graduate of Bruce High School. Other probable starters are Paul Yockus and Jan Withrow of Cumberland, and Glenn Larnerd of Montrose, Pa.

Tonight's game is the first of 21 for the Trojans. They have 13 contests scheduled in the Tri-State Athletic Conference, the first of which is set for next Wednesday against Hagerstown Junior College in the Hub City.

Officials for tonight's game are Clifton Van Roby and Pete Elliott.

Poor Officials Blamed For Fight Mishaps

Charges Leveled By Nat Fleischer

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Nat Fleischer, who has been observing boxing just about as long as any man, told a legislative committee Tuesday incompetent officials were a main cause of mishaps in the ring.

"We have plenty of them in the state of New York and elsewhere," the 75-year-old editor-publiser of Ring Magazine told the Joint Legislative Committee on Professional Boxing.

He was the major witness at the final session of a two-day public hearing here.

The committee, created after the ring death of Benny Paret last March in Madison Square Garden, is charged with determining whether professional boxing should be continued in New York State and, if so, whether additional safeguards should be required.

Assemblyman Hayward H. Plumadore, the chairman, said the committee would report its findings late next month and probably make recommendations to the legislature in January.

Fleischer told the committee it would be a mistake for New York to outlaw professional boxing. It would only drive the sport underground, he said, and New Yorkers would watch fights televised from other states. The result would be a loss of tax revenue, he said.

In reply to a question from Plumadore, Fleischer said he did not know of any hoodlums operating in boxing today in New York or California. Some are still active in the Midwest, he said. The Kefauver crime investigation in 1951 drove racketeers from boxing in this state, Fleischer said.

Approximately 900 tickets have been sold already for the benefit game between the Harlem Globetrotters and the San Francisco All-Nations quint Saturday at 8 p.m., at the Allegany High School gymnasium, according to Robert R. Pence.

There are 1,860 seats available.

Last year approximately 2,000 persons saw the Trotters in action here and a profit of $1,300 was realized from the game and halftime show. The Globetrotters receive 65 per cent of the gate.

Every seat was sold before the night of the game a year ago and Pence expects another full house Saturday.

Main floor seats for both adults and students are $2.50 each. Balcony seats are $2 for adults and $1.25 for students.

The halftime show comprises six acts.

Proceeds go toward the Youth Fitness program in the county public schools.

Tickets may be purchased at Wilson Hardware Company, The Sports Shoppe, Board of Education office, Finzel's Restaurant in Frostburg and Mt. Savage and Valley high schools.

Bloody Brawl In Washington Investigated

Shane MacCarthy Heads Committee

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Former National Youth Fitness Director Shane MacCarthy headed a special citizens committee Tuesday to investigate a bloody brawl that followed a Thanksgiving Day high school football game here.

MacCarthy witnessed the riots which came after St. John's, a predominantly white high school, defeated Eastern High School, mostly Negro, 20-7 in a prep championship game in District Stadium.

His 14-year-old niece, he said, was slapped by a woman as they made their way to a parking lot through the battling fans after the game.

MacCarthy was director of the fitness program under former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. He was picked to head the special committee to look into the causes of the brawl by Washington School Superintendent Carl F. Hansen.

In addition to seeking the cause, the panel will make recommendations on how to prevent further such disturbances, which have marred four of the last five annual prep football playoffs.

MacCarthy said the committee would be made up of "nine or 10 citizens of stature" to be picked this week.

A prominent Negro newsman, meanwhile, deplored the riots and said the "explosion of hate stemmed mostly from my own people."

Simeon Booker, chief of the Washington bureau of Johnson Publishing Co., which publishes the Negro magazines Jet, Tan and Ebony, wrote that "the predominant number of offenders were Negro."

More than 41 persons were injured in the post-games riots, at least three hospitalized, and more than a dozen arrested by police.

Booker, in a letter to the Washington Post, said:

"My older son was pushed down and trampled as a group of Negroes chased a white boy. I could feel the hopelessness, the tragedy of parents who expected the game to be the highlight of a perfect Thanksgiving Day.

"But even in its ugliness this uprising wasn't entirely racial. A majority of the Negroes opposed the misconduct, many were hurt trying to defend whites."

Royals Top Knicks

NEW YORK (UPI) — Oscar Robertson scored 31 points while making 13 of 16 field goal attempts and added 15 assists Tuesday night to lead the Cincinnati Royals to a 139-129 victory over the New York Knickerbockers in the second game of a National Basketball Association doubleheader.

Rens Win, 98-95

McKEESPORT, Pa. (UPI) — Connie Hawkins and Jim McCoy teamed up to give the Pittsburgh Rens a 98-95 American Basketball League victory over the Philadelphia Tapers here Tuesday night.

Hawkins, the leading scorer in the ABL last season, registered 27 points to top both teams and McCoy followed with 23.

Basic cost of constructing the nuclear vessel Savannah was $35.6 million, with another $11.3 million added for other necessary appurtenances, training, administrative and construction support expenditures.

Allegany Community College Opens Cage Season Tonight

Trojans To Host Frostburg State Fraternity Squad

Allegany Community College opens its 1962-63 basketball campaign tonight in a "tune-up" battle against Sigma Tau Gamma Fraternity of Frostburg State Teachers College. Tipoff time for the contest on the ACC floor is 8 p.m.

Alan Stockholm, former East Stroudsburg (Pa.) College two-sport star, makes his debut in the coaching ranks in today's battle. Last year, ACC floored a team in the school's first year of operation and posted a 6-8 record under coach John Bailey.

Ronnie Riggs, only returnee from last year's squad, will serve as co-captain of the Trojan cagers along with Bob Wright, a June graduate of Bruce High School. Other probable starters are Paul Yockus and Jan Withrow of Cumberland, and Glenn Larnerd of Montrose, Pa.

Tonight's game is the first of 21 for the Trojans. They have 13 contests scheduled in the Tri-State Athletic Conference, the first of which is set for next Wednesday against Hagerstown Junior College in the Hub City.

Officials for tonight's game are Clifton Van Roby and Pete Elliott.

Poor Officials Blamed For Fight Mishaps

Charges Leveled By Nat Fleischer

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Nat Fleischer, who has been observing boxing just about as long as any man, told a legislative committee Tuesday incompetent officials were a main cause of mishaps in the ring.

"We have plenty of them in the state of New York and elsewhere," the 75-year-old editor-publiser of Ring Magazine told the Joint Legislative Committee on Professional Boxing.

He was the major witness at the final session of a two-day public hearing here.

The committee, created after the ring death of Benny Paret last March in Madison Square Garden, is charged with determining whether professional boxing should be continued in New York State and, if so, whether additional safeguards should be required.

Assemblyman Hayward H. Plumadore, the chairman, said the committee would report its findings late next month and probably make recommendations to the legislature in January.

Fleischer told the committee it would be a mistake for New York to outlaw professional boxing. It would only drive the sport underground, he said, and New Yorkers would watch fights televised from other states. The result would be a loss of tax revenue, he said.

In reply to a question from Plumadore, Fleischer said he did not know of any hoodlums operating in boxing today in New York or California. Some are still active in the Midwest, he said. The Kefauver crime investigation in 1951 drove racketeers from boxing in this state, Fleischer said.

Celtics Defeat Pistons, 125-115

NEW YORK (UPI) — Although playing without Bill Russell, the Boston Celtics scored a surprisingly easy, 125-115, victory over the Detroit Pistons Tuesday night in the first game of a National Basketball Association doubleheader.

Russell injured his ankle Saturday night in St. Louis and will be assured of a good rest since the Celtics don't play again until next Saturday.

Seven Celtics scored in double figures, led by Tommy Heinsohn with 24. Leading scorer for Detroit was Bailey Howell with 29 points.

Oregon State's Terry Baker Wins Heisman Memorial Trophy

LSU's Stovall Is Runnerup In Close Balloting

Beaver QB First Award Winner From West Coast

NEW YORK (UPI)—Terry Baker, who slings his pinpoint passes southpaw-style and still finds time to lead his Oregon State team in rushing, Tuesday was named winner of the Heisman Memorial Trophy as the outstanding college football player of the 1962 season.

The 23-year-old senior quarterback from Portland, Ore., who won the honor in close balloting with halfback Jerry Stovall of Louisiana State, thus became the first player from a West Coast school to win the trophy in its 28-year history.

The award caps a regular season in which Baker leads the nation in total offense with 2,276 yards gained in 10 games. During his three-year varsity career he has gained 4,979 yards and is a cinch to go over the 5,000 mark when he leads Oregon State against Villanova in the Liberty Bowl game at Philadelphia on Dec. 15.

The 6-foot, 3-inch, 191-pound star received 707 points in the balloting by sports writers and broadcasters throughout the nation while the speedy Stovall received 618 points for second place.

Bell Finishes Third

Bobby Bell, Minnesota's big tackle, finished third with 429 points for the highest score by a linesman. Center Lee Roy Jordan of Alabama was right behind in fourth place with 321 and quarterback George Mira of Miami (Fla.) completed the top five with 284 points.

Baker, a solid man scholastically with a 3.04 average in a tough mechanical engineering course, was called out of class to be told of his selection.

"That's great," he said. "I'm a very lucky boy."

Baker also is a star basketball player and playing in the Liberty Bowl means he will miss three weeks of practice for the Oregon State basketball team, which is ranked No. 6 nationally in preseason UPI ratings.

Baker received the first-place votes of 172 of the 1,109 electors, while Stovall received 112 and Jordan 70. Each elector voted for three players with points awarded 3-2-1 for votes from first to third.

Baker is the fifth player from a school west of the Mississippi River to win the trophy, which is awarded annually by the Downtown Athletic Club, and the first ever from a West Coast team.

Others In Voting

Following the top five in order in the balloting were: Pat Richter of Wisconsin, 276; George Saimes of Michigan State, 254; Billy Lothridge of Georgia Tech, 162; Ron VanderKelen of Wisconsin, 139; Eldon Fortie of Brigham Young, 136; Billy King of Dartmouth, 119; Hal Bedsole of Southern California, 116; Billy Moore of Arkansas, 104; and Glynn Griffing of Mississippi, 86.

Stanford Fires Coach Curtice

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Jack Curtice was fired officially Tuesday as football coach at Stanford just three days after his team walloped arch-rival California with the Indians' highest score in that traditional battle since 1930.

The 30-13 triumph gave Stanford a 5-5 season record, the best in the five years of the Curtice tenure.

In the official statement, athletic director Al Masters said:

"After conferences with many people who are close to the Stanford athletic picture, and with much deliberation, I have decided, in the best interests of all parties concerned, not to recommend Jack Curtice for reappointment as head football coach.

"I have reached this decision with great regret. All of us at Stanford wish Jack the very best in the future."

The 55-year-old Curtice, a disappointed man, didn't know what that future might hold, explaining, "I can't plan that quickly. I don't know what to think."

As the search started for a new coach for the Big Six Conference club, the first name popping up unofficially was Gary Kerkorian, quarterback on the 1951 Rose Bowl team and now an attorney in Los Angeles.

Braves Trade Adcock, Curtis To Cleveland

Funk And Dillard Sent To Milwaukee

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves traded veteran first baseman Joe Adcock and left-handed pitcher Jack Curtis to the Cleveland Indians Tuesday night for right-handed pitcher Frank Funk and outfielder Don Dillard.

The 35-year-old Adcock obviously was the big man in the trade. He has been with the Braves since 1954 after breaking into the majors with Cincinnati in 1950.

A long-ball hitter, Adcock finished last season with a .248 batting average and 29 home runs in 121 games.

Curtis, used mainly in relief, had a 4-6 record last year and a 4.02 earned run average.

Dillard, who also can play first base, did considerable pinchhitting for the Indians and wound up with a .230 mark. He had five home runs. Funk, also a relief pitcher, had a 2-1 record. He pitched only 31 1-3 innings.

It was the fourth interleague trade since Wednesday's opening and the third there in three days.

Yost's 1,361 Yards Is Best In 25 Years

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — Quarterback Jerry Yost picked up 1,361 yards total offense this season for the best mark at West Virginia University in 25 years.

The junior signal caller also passed for 11 touchdowns, to rank him among the nation's leaders in that department, and accounted for 98 points running and passing.

Yost also ranked third on the team in rushing with 277 yards, a mark exceeded only twice by a WVU quarterback.

Cincy Picked To Emerge As Nation's No. 1 Quint

Duke Rated No. 2, Kentucky No. 3 And West Virginia No. 4

NEW YORK (UPI)—Cincinnati's NCAA champion Bearcats, twice overlooked in favor of Ohio State, Wednesday were named most likely to emerge as the nation's No. 1 major college basketball team in 1962-63 by the United Press International board of coaches.

The Bearcats, boasting two members of the NCAA championship teams of the past two seasons in Tom Thacker and Tony Yates, were picked to finish No. 1 this season by 30 of the 35 coaches who comprise the UPI rating board.

The UPI rating board is made up of five coaches from each of the nation's seven geographical regions. Each week they will rate the top 10 teams in the country, awarding their selections 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 points for votes from first through 10th.

On that basis, the coaches piled up a near perfect 343 points for Cincinnati in their pre-season forecast. Of the five coaches who did not pick the Bearcats first, four named them second and one picked them for third.

W. V. U. Rated Fourth

Three of the five coaches named Duke No. 1 while one voted for Kentucky and one for West Virginia. Thus, Duke was rated No. 2, Kentucky No. 3 and West Virginia No. 4. Fifth place in the preseason ratings went to Loyola of Chicago.

Oregon State was picked No. 6, followed by Mississippi State, St. Bonaventure, Wisconsin and Stanford and Bowling Green, who tied for 10th.

Ohio State, with All-Americas Jerry Lucas and John Havlicek lost to graduation, was picked to finish far back in the pack this season. The once magnificent Buckeyes were named No. 1 every single week during the past two seasons by the UPI rating board, but bowed to the Bearcats in both 1960 and 1961 in the NCAA final.

Art Heyman Returns

Duke's high ranking is based on the return of star Art Heyman, while Kentucky and West Virginia are expected to go far behind Cotton Nash and Rod Thorn, respectively. Loyola, while missing a real star, has a finely balanced squad which boasts outstanding jumping and shooting ability.

Ranked 12th through 20th in the pre-season forecast were Dayton, Illinois, Kansas State, Arizona State, New York University, UCLA, Colorado State, Creighton and Indiana, thus giving the top 20 representation from every section of the country.

Washington State's Campbell Is Voted Lineman Of Week

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

Hugh Campbell, Washington State's spectacular pass-catching end, was named the Associated Press'lineman of the week Tuesday for his stirring final performance in a losing cause against Washington.

The 6-foot, 1-inch, 180-pound senior caught 10 passes for 178 yards and one touchdown as his team bowed to favored Washington 26-21 after holding the Huskies even for three quarters last Saturday.

Campbell closed out his three-year varsity career with major college records of 176 catches and 2,453 yards. His total of 22 touchdowns is only one behind the record.

Other highly rated nominees included Washington tackle Mike Briggs, and ends John Flynn and John Porterfield and center Wayne Lee of Oklahoma.

Briggs paced a Huskie line that held the Washington State Cougars to 15 yards rushing. Flynn and Porterfield made key catches against Nebraska while Lee was a standout on offense and defense with his blocking and tackling.

Browns Sign Shoals, Former Terp Tackle

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns signed Roger Shoals, a 6-foot-5, 245-pound tackle from the University of Maryland, Tuesday. He had been drafted in the 16th round in 1960 when he still had two years of eligibility remaining.

Shoals, from Norwalk, Conn., is 23 years old.

Paul Brown, coach and general manger of the Browns, said: "He represents the hopes we have for some new big linemen. He is intelligent, has a good reputation and should get even bigger."

A teammate of Shoals on the 1961 Maryland team has been a pass-catching star for the Browns in recent games. He is All-America end Gary Collins.

Oregon State's Terry Baker Wins Heisman Memorial Trophy

Beaver QB First Award Winner From West Coast

NEW YORK (UPI)—Terry Baker, who slings his pinpoint passes southpaw-style and still finds time to lead his Oregon State team in rushing, Tuesday was named winner of the Heisman Memorial Trophy as the outstanding college football player of the 1962 season.

The 23-year-old senior quarterback from Portland, Ore., who won the honor in close balloting with halfback Jerry Stovall of Louisiana State, thus became the first player from a West Coast school to win the trophy in its 28-year history.

The award caps a regular season in which Baker leads the nation in total offense with 2,276 yards gained in 10 games. During his three-year varsity career he has gained 4,979 yards and is a cinch to go over the 5,000 mark when he leads Oregon State against Villanova in the Liberty Bowl game at Philadelphia on Dec. 15.

The 6-foot, 3-inch, 191-pound star received 707 points in the balloting by sports writers and broadcasters throughout the nation while the speedy Stovall received 618 points for second place.

Bell Finishes Third

Bobby Bell, Minnesota's big tackle, finished third with 429 points for the highest score by a linesman. Center Lee Roy Jordan of Alabama was right behind in fourth place with 321 and quarterback George Mira of Miami (Fla.) completed the top five with 284 points.

Baker, a solid man scholastically with a 3.04 average in a tough mechanical engineering course, was called out of class to be told of his selection.

"That's great," he said. "I'm a very lucky boy."

Baker also is a star basketball player and playing in the Liberty Bowl means he will miss three weeks of practice for the Oregon State basketball team, which is ranked No. 6 nationally in preseason UPI ratings.

Baker received the first-place votes of 172 of the 1,109 electors, while Stovall received 112 and Jordan 70. Each elector voted for three players with points awarded 3-2-1 for votes from first to third.

Baker is the fifth player from a school west of the Mississippi River to win the trophy, which is awarded annually by the Downtown Athletic Club, and the first ever from a West Coast team.

Others In Voting

Following the top five in order in the balloting were: Pat Richter of Wisconsin, 276; George Saimes of Michigan State, 254; Billy Lothridge of Georgia Tech, 162; Ron VanderKelen of Wisconsin, 139; Eldon Fortie of Brigham Young, 136; Billy King of Dartmouth, 119; Hal Bedsole of Southern California, 116; Billy Moore of Arkansas, 104; and Glynn Griffing of Mississippi, 86.

Stanford Fires Coach Curtice

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Jack Curtice was fired officially Tuesday as football coach at Stanford just three days after his team walloped arch-rival California with the Indians' highest score in that traditional battle since 1930.

The 30-13 triumph gave Stanford a 5-5 season record, the best in the five years of the Curtice tenure.

In the official statement, athletic director Al Masters said:

"After conferences with many people who are close to the Stanford athletic picture, and with much deliberation, I have decided, in the best interests of all parties concerned, not to recommend Jack Curtice for reappointment as head football coach.

"I have reached this decision with great regret. All of us at Stanford wish Jack the very best in the future."

The 55-year-old Curtice, a disappointed man, didn't know what that future might hold, explaining, "I can't plan that quickly. I don't know what to think."

As the search started for a new coach for the Big Six Conference club, the first name popping up unofficially was Gary Kerkorian, quarterback on the 1951 Rose Bowl team and now an attorney in Los Angeles.

Braves Trade Adcock, Curtis To Cleveland

Funk And Dillard Sent To Milwaukee

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves traded veteran first baseman Joe Adcock and left-handed pitcher Jack Curtis to the Cleveland Indians Tuesday night for right-handed pitcher Frank Funk and outfielder Don Dillard.

The 35-year-old Adcock obviously was the big man in the trade. He has been with the Braves since 1954 after breaking into the majors with Cincinnati in 1950.

A long-ball hitter, Adcock finished last season with a .248 batting average and 29 home runs in 121 games.

Curtis, used mainly in relief, had a 4-6 record last year and a 4.02 earned run average.

Dillard, who also can play first base, did considerable pinchhitting for the Indians and wound up with a .230 mark. He had five home runs. Funk, also a relief pitcher, had a 2-1 record. He pitched only 31 1-3 innings.

It was the fourth interleague trade since Wednesday's opening and the third there in three days.

Cincy Picked To Emerge As Nation's No. 1 Quint

Duke Rated No. 2, Kentucky No. 3 And West Virginia No. 4

NEW YORK (UPI)—Cincinnati's NCAA champion Bearcats, twice overlooked in favor of Ohio State, Wednesday were named most likely to emerge as the nation's No. 1 major college basketball team in 1962-63 by the United Press International board of coaches.

The Bearcats, boasting two members of the NCAA championship teams of the past two seasons in Tom Thacker and Tony Yates, were picked to finish No. 1 this season by 30 of the 35 coaches who comprise the UPI rating board.

The UPI rating board is made up of five coaches from each of the nation's seven geographical regions. Each week they will rate the top 10 teams in the country, awarding their selections 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 points for votes from first through 10th.

On that basis, the coaches piled up a near perfect 343 points for Cincinnati in their pre-season forecast. Of the five coaches who did not pick the Bearcats first, four named them second and one picked them for third.

W. V. U. Rated Fourth

Three of the five coaches named Duke No. 1 while one voted for Kentucky and one for West Virginia. Thus, Duke was rated No. 2, Kentucky No. 3 and West Virginia No. 4. Fifth place in the preseason ratings went to Loyola of Chicago.

Oregon State was picked No. 6, followed by Mississippi State, St. Bonaventure, Wisconsin and Stanford and Bowling Green, who tied for 10th.

Ohio State, with All-Americas Jerry Lucas and John Havlicek lost to graduation, was picked to finish far back in the pack this season. The once magnificent Buckeyes were named No. 1 every single week during the past two seasons by the UPI rating board, but bowed to the Bearcats in both 1960 and 1961 in the NCAA final.

Art Heyman Returns

Duke's high ranking is based on the return of star Art Heyman, while Kentucky and West Virginia are expected to go far behind Cotton Nash and Rod Thorn, respectively. Loyola, while missing a real star, has a finely balanced squad which boasts outstanding jumping and shooting ability.

Ranked 12th through 20th in the pre-season forecast were Dayton, Illinois, Kansas State, Arizona State, New York University, UCLA, Colorado State, Creighton and Indiana, thus giving the top 20 representation from every section of the country.

Washington State's Campbell Is Voted Lineman Of Week

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

Hugh Campbell, Washington State's spectacular pass-catching end, was named the Associated Press'lineman of the week Tuesday for his stirring final performance in a losing cause against Washington.

The 6-foot, 1-inch, 180-pound senior caught 10 passes for 178 yards and one touchdown as his team bowed to favored Washington 26-21 after holding the Huskies even for three quarters last Saturday.

Campbell closed out his three-year varsity career with major college records of 176 catches and 2,453 yards. His total of 22 touchdowns is only one behind the record.

Other highly rated nominees included Washington tackle Mike Briggs, and ends John Flynn and John Porterfield and center Wayne Lee of Oklahoma.

Briggs paced a Huskie line that held the Washington State Cougars to 15 yards rushing. Flynn and Porterfield made key catches against Nebraska while Lee was a standout on offense and defense with his blocking and tackling.

Browns Sign Shoals, Former Terp Tackle

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns signed Roger Shoals, a 6-foot-5, 245-pound tackle from the University of Maryland, Tuesday. He had been drafted in the 16th round in 1960 when he still had two years of eligibility remaining.

Shoals, from Norwalk, Conn., is 23 years old.

Paul Brown, coach and general manger of the Browns, said: "He represents the hopes we have for some new big linemen. He is intelligent, has a good reputation and should get even bigger."

A teammate of Shoals on the 1961 Maryland team has been a pass-catching star for the Browns in recent games. He is All-America end Gary Collins.

Ferraro Rides Pimlico Triple

Youngster Scores 319th Season Win

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 27 (AP) — Increasing his lead as the country's top rider, apprentice Ronnie Ferraro won three races at Pimlico race course and topped off his good day's work with victory aboard Edsan Stable's Escapat in the La Corredora Purse, featured eighth race.

Escapat went off at $3.60 for $2 and won easily by three and a half lengths from Miss Cognac, who was a helf length in front of Royal Vision.

Riding his 21st winner of the meeting, Ferraro had Escapat first out of the gate, but took back to second position on the first turn and permitted Badge of Honor to set the pace through the backstretch run.

Taking the lead on the final turn, Escapat, who is trained by Jose De Murguiondo, breezed by Badge of Honor with little difficulty and needed only mild encouragement to win in mile and a sixteenth time of 1.46 1/5.

Ferraro, who hails from Philadelphia, is gradually pulling away to a substantial lead in the national jockey standings. He now has 319 wins for the season.

Oregon State, Villanova In Liberty Bowl

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Oregon State and Villanova will meet in the 4th annual Liberty Bowl at Philadelphia Stadium Dec. 15.

Ambrose (Bud) Dudley, president of Liberty Bowl Charities, announced Tuesday that Roy S. (Spec) Keene, athletic director for Oregon had accepted the invitation.

Villanova accepted the bid Monday to play in the bowl which will benefit the 60 member hospitals in the Delaware Valley Hospital Council.

Oregon State, featuring left handed quarterback, Terry Baker, named Tuesday as winner of the Heisman Memorial Trophy as the outstanding college football player in 1962, compiled an 8-2 record this year, losing only to Iowa and Washington.

Terps' Shiner Leads Nation

NEW YORK (AP)—Quarterback Dick Shiner of Maryland continues to lead the nation's major college passers in number of completions.

The NCAA statistics bureau reported Tuesday that Shiner completed 121 throws in his 10 games, 5 more than runnerup Tom Myers of Northwestern. Myers has one more game to play.

Shiner, who has held the No. 1 spot in completions most of the season, is sixth in passing yardage with 1,324, some 400 yards behind the leader in this department, Terry Baker of Oregon State.

Baltimore Seeks Liston, Patterson

BALTIMORE (AP) — World heavyweight champion Sonny Liston has begun negotiations to fight the return championship bout with Floyd Patterson in Baltimore's new 14,000-seat Civic Center.

Jack Nilon, Liston's adviser, talked with local promoter Lou Grasmick Monday about possible dates for the bout.

Grasmick said if Patterson doesn't agree on Baltimore, Liston is ready to fight either Cassius Clay or Ingemar Johannson here.

Under the agreement signed before the first title fight, Patterson has the right to name the location for the rematch. However, Liston's camp feels the contract has been broken since no money has been placed in escrow.

NFL Arranges For Possible Western Division Playoff

NEW YORK (AP) — If Green Bay, Detroit and Chicago are tied for the Western Division lead in the National Football League after the close of play on Dec. 16, the championship game will be set back to Jan. 6 for a pair of deadlock breaking contests.

If the three-way tie comes off, the Chicago Bears will be idle while Detroit and Green Bay will meet in the Wisconsin city on Dec. 23. On the following Sunday, Dec. 30, the winner of the first game will be host to the Bears.

These and other playoff schedules were arranged Tuesday in the National Football League offices by Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

Should the Lions and the Packers tie for the Western flag, the tie-breaker will be played at Detroit on Dec. 23. Green Bay will be host to the Bears on the same date should those two clubs tie. The championship would be played a week later.

No three-way deadlock is foreseen in the Eastern race.

Scheduled play ends on Dec. 16 and if each division has a clear-cut champion at that time the title game will be held in the home of the Eastern champion on Dec. 30.

Ferraro Rides Pimlico Triple

Youngster Scores 319th Season Win

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 27 (AP) — Increasing his lead as the country's top rider, apprentice Ronnie Ferraro won three races at Pimlico race course and topped off his good day's work with victory aboard Edsan Stable's Escapat in the La Corredora Purse, featured eighth race.

Escapat went off at $3.60 for $2 and won easily by three and a half lengths from Miss Cognac, who was a helf length in front of Royal Vision.

Riding his 21st winner of the meeting, Ferraro had Escapat first out of the gate, but took back to second position on the first turn and permitted Badge of Honor to set the pace through the backstretch run.

Taking the lead on the final turn, Escapat, who is trained by Jose De Murguiondo, breezed by Badge of Honor with little difficulty and needed only mild encouragement to win in mile and a sixteenth time of 1.46 1/5.

Ferraro, who hails from Philadelphia, is gradually pulling away to a substantial lead in the national jockey standings. He now has 319 wins for the season.

Oregon State, Villanova In Liberty Bowl

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Oregon State and Villanova will meet in the 4th annual Liberty Bowl at Philadelphia Stadium Dec. 15.

Ambrose (Bud) Dudley, president of Liberty Bowl Charities, announced Tuesday that Roy S. (Spec) Keene, athletic director for Oregon had accepted the invitation.

Villanova accepted the bid Monday to play in the bowl which will benefit the 60 member hospitals in the Delaware Valley Hospital Council.

Oregon State, featuring left handed quarterback, Terry Baker, named Tuesday as winner of the Heisman Memorial Trophy as the outstanding college football player in 1962, compiled an 8-2 record this year, losing only to Iowa and Washington.

Villanova, winners in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex., last year, finished with a 7-2 record, dropping games to Boston College and Massachusetts.

Terps' Shiner Leads Nation

NEW YORK (AP)—Quarterback Dick Shiner of Maryland continues to lead the nation's major college passers in number of completions.

The NCAA statistics bureau reported Tuesday that Shiner completed 121 throws in his 10 games, 5 more than runnerup Tom Myers of Northwestern. Myers has one more game to play.

Shiner, who has held the No. 1 spot in completions most of the season, is sixth in passing yardage with 1,324, some 400 yards behind the leader in this department, Terry Baker of Oregon State.

Baltimore Seeks Liston, Patterson

BALTIMORE (AP) — World heavyweight champion Sonny Liston has begun negotiations to fight the return championship bout with Floyd Patterson in Baltimore's new 14,000-seat Civic Center.

Jack Nilon, Liston's adviser, talked with local promoter Lou Grasmick Monday about possible dates for the bout.

Grasmick said if Patterson doesn't agree on Baltimore, Liston is ready to fight either Cassius Clay or Ingemar Johannson here.

Under the agreement signed before the first title fight, Patterson has the right to name the location for the rematch. However, Liston's camp feels the contract has been broken since no money has been placed in escrow.

NFL Arranges For Possible Western Division Playoff

NEW YORK (AP) — If Green Bay, Detroit and Chicago are tied for the Western Division lead in the National Football League after the close of play on Dec. 16, the championship game will be set back to Jan. 6 for a pair of deadlock breaking contests.

If the three-way tie comes off, the Chicago Bears will be idle while Detroit and Green Bay will meet in the Wisconsin city on Dec. 23. On the following Sunday, Dec. 30, the winner of the first game will be host to the Bears.

These and other playoff schedules were arranged Tuesday in the National Football League offices by Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

Should the Lions and the Packers tie for the Western flag, the tie-breaker will be played at Detroit on Dec. 23. Green Bay will be host to the Bears on the same date should those two clubs tie. The championship would be played a week later.

No three-way deadlock is foreseen in the Eastern race.

Scheduled play ends on Dec. 16 and if each division has a clear-cut champion at that time the title game will be held in the home of the Eastern champion on Dec. 30.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank all of our neighbors and friends who were so kind to us during our recent bereavement following the death of our husband and father, Henry "Pete" Rank. We also wish to thank Rev. Clarence McCloud, Rev. Louis Emerick, those who sent floral tributes, the pallbearers and those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral.

Opening lead: Ten of ◇ South opened the bidding with one spade and North chose to temporize with a simple one round forcing bid of two clubs. South's second call was a bid of two hearts and now North resorted to an artificial bid of three diamonds, intending to show his spade support on the next round. On this display of strength, South felt justified in making a slam try of his own by bidding five diamonds to show the king of that suit. At this moment, North felt it was high time to pull himself together and bid a slam.

West opened the ten of diamonds which was covered in turn by the jack, queen, and king. Declarer crossed over to dummy with the ace of diamonds in order to take a spade finesse. The queen lost to West's king, and when South regained the lead he played the ace of trumps. East was revealed to have another trump trick and even tho declarer subsequently guessed the location of the queen of hearts, his contract was down by one.

In the post-mortem, it was readily established that, had South played the ace of trumps from his hand instead of finessing, he could have restricted his losses in the suit to one trick. There was some question as to which was the proper play.

It is our opinion that declarer overlooked the most important feature of the hand. Who had the queen of hearts? If South can successfully determine the location of this card, he can afford to make a safety play in trumps by cashing the ace of spades intending to give up a trick in the suit. If he misguesses, however, and and loses a trick to the heart queen, he must go all out in an effort to pick up the entire spade suit.

At trick two, he should lead the jack of hearts from his hand. If he guesses to play West for the missing honor in the suit, he will be well on his way. The next step is to play the ace of spades. As it develops, the king drops and the rest is routine. If both opponents follow with small trumps, however, South merely crosses over to dummy with the ace of diamonds and leads a small spade toward his queen. This enables him to restrict his losses in the trump suit to one trick should East have the king where it was originally finessable.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Right now if the Mirisch brothers think they are seeing pink elephants instead of a "pink panther," you can hardly blame them. First they had Ava Gardner all but signed, but when her demands to play "Pink Panther" got too much, they hired Capucine instead.

Next, Peter Ustinov walked out on the picture shooting in Rome, and Peter Sellers went in. Over last weekend, Kay Thompson, portraying a kidd of Elsa Maxwell-Perle Mesta role, flipped her wig, left the set and Brena de Banzie is now playing the hostess with the mostest, or thereabouts.

So far, producer-director Blake Edwards is sticking, but I don't guarantee this for more than two editions in advance.

Laurence Harvey was in and out of Hollywood just like that. He came to California to see Joan Cohn and to talk over some business with United Artists about "ceremony" which he will film in Spain.

Larry has signed Sarah Mills, who is such a success in Sir Laurrence Olivier's "Term of Trial." She will be the leading lady in "Ceremony" which concerns the final 24 hours in the life of a condemned man.

Harvey starts work on this intense drama next month and will have 12 weeks to complete it before he begins "Of Human Bondage."

It looks as though we have a new rebel without any cause at all in our midst. His name is Richard Harris, who has sounded off plenty about Marlon Brando, with whom he co-starred in "Mutiny on the Bounty."

The only trouble with being a rebel, as Brando himself could tell Harris, is that you have got to be very, very good to get away with biting the hand that pays you.

Even though many of the people who worked in Tahiti on "Mutiny" told me that Harris" diatribes against Brando were false, I, like a lot of other people in Hollywood, did listen to them. But now when I get word from Madrid that Harris is kicking over the traces on "The Fall of the Roman Empire" I'm beginning to wonder.

Says Mr. H.: "I don't care about money but my part is mucked up and I'm not going to play it as is. When I read the original, it was a marvelous part but after my trouble with "Mutiny' I feel I must be protexted. If they go back to the original script of "Fall of the Roman Empire' I'll play it. Now it's up to Mr. Broston."

Warner Bros. and the now-defunct RKO Stuio are facing an action which will be heard in several New York courts, being brought by Norman Mailer, author of "The Naked and the Dead". The movie started out as an RKO production but was finally released by Warners in 1956.

Mailer, whose book has sold more than 2,000,000 copies in paperback editions, charges that in his original contract, the movie rights were to have reverted back to him if the script was not filmed before a given time had expired, and that it was filmed after that stipulated date.

Has Brigitte Bardot filed for divorce against Jacques Charrier? Is she taking instructions in Judaism so that she can marry Sammy Frey?

That's what all Paris believes, and as evidence, the French are buzzing about the fiery appearance Brigitte made as a witness for Frey in his suit against "Ici Paris", the magazine which ran an article trying to prove Sammy was "terrorizing" Mlle. Bardot. The story implied that he had persuaded BB to live in seclusion and that she kept a ferocious dog to scare off reporters and photographers.

"It is all untrue. The whole article is a tissue of lies," said the lady—and she ought to know.

Back in the '30's when A. C. Lyles was a messenger boy at Paramount—but very ambitious, Richard Allen, than a top star promised him that if he ever became a producer, he would work for him.

Living up to his promise, Dick is making a one-day appearance as a colonel in "Atton", which Lyle is currently producing at MGM, which stars Rory Calhoun and Bill Bendix.

Twenty-five years ago in the Academy Award winning movie "Boys' Town," Mickey Rooney, its star, won his greatest applause for a very dramatic scene he played with a baby in his arms. The baby's name was Bobs Watson. A few days ago, Bobs Watson, tall, handsome and 25, was signed for a continuing role in MGM's new TV series "The Human Comedy."

And guess who plays the lead in this? No, not Mickey Rooney. Mickey played the lead in the movie version of "Human Comedy," but in the TV series, Tim Rooney, Mickey's son, now 15, plays his dad's old role. Bobs Watson plays a milkman.

"And one crack out of you," says Bobs to Tim, "and I'll carry you out of my scenes."

Considering that she won the Tony award for the best star performance with Art Carney in "Take Her, She's Mine," Elizabeth Ashley slipped into town very quietly. This charming 23-year-old southern girl from Baton Rouge played the lead with Vince Edwards in a "Ben Casey" TV show. But look for her to be in motion pictures because Elizabeth caught the attention of Walter Mirisch who is talking a multiple picture deal with her.

The Russians spend appromimately $125 million a year trying to jam the Voice of America programs, according to Edward R. Murrow, U. S. Information Agency director.

Woman Saves Man In Fire

A Cresaptown woman, veteran member of the community's volunteer fire department auxiliary, has been informed that an elderly man that she saved from being burned to death is recuperating.

Mrs. Rose Kane was visiting her daughter, Mrs. Mary Catherine Hulings, two weeks ago at 867 West Lombard Street, Baltimore.

Her daughter had her hip and pelvis fractured when struck by a car on a downtown Baltimore street.

Mrs. Kane said that on November 15 while looking out of the apartment window smoke began to appear from a room directly across the street.

She rushed to the residence of George Tanner, 72, at 864 West Lombard Street and found the elderly man sitting in a chair that was burning. His clothes were on fire. Using a rug, she extinguished the flames.

The daughter of the man, Mrs. Helen Overman, called the fire department but using several buckets of water Mrs. Kane had the fire out by the time the firemen arrived.

Auto sales in mid-November soared 20.3 per cent over a year ago to 222,079 units, final reports by auto makers showed Tuesday.

The mid-November selling pace of 27,760a day was the highest on record for any mid-month period. Every manufacturer except Studebaker achieved sizable sales gains over both a year earlier and the first 10 days of this month.

Finnish Trade Rises

HELSINKI (UPI) — Finland's trade with the United States increased over 40 per cent in the first half of this year as compared with the corresponding period of 1961, the foreign ministry's trade department announced Tuesday.

Exports to the United States during the first six months totaled over $30,937,500.

Death Toll Rises

TUNIS (UPI) — The death toll in flash floods in southern Tunisia rose to at least 50 Tuesday with countless injured and missing and thousands homeless, official sources reported. The disaster was caused by torrential rains which turned dry river heads in the semi-desert country around gabes into torrents.

Increases Term

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI) — The Israeli Supreme Court Tuesday increased to 15 years the 10-year spy sentence imposed on Israel Beer, military commentator and historian. Beer was found guilty several months ago of spying for an unidentified country. He appealed and the supreme court added five years to the sentence.

To Hear Prince

THE HAGUE (UPI) — Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands will leave Dec. 6 for West Point, N.Y., to address the U.S. Military Academy on "the Atlantic community and the European economic community," it was announced Tuesday.

County's Financial Condition Termed 'Very Fine' By Auditor

James P. Rogers, certified public accountant and Mrs. Johanna N. Sills, county auditor, appeared before the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday to submit the audit for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1962.

Rogers told the board that the county is in a "very fine financial condition." He listed uncollected taxes of $79,715.85 from the last fiscal year.

The capital assets of the county totaled $14,771,693.52 and all fixed assets were checked by reference to the original data. The cost of new highway construction was furnished by the Roads Department.

Long term bonded indebtedness of the county was listed at $7,130,460.50 and during the current year a total of $634,404.21 in principal and $161,854.67 in interest was paid. During the current year the county realized $52,847.51 from short term investment of idle tax monies, Rogers stated.

Rogers' audit shows that the records of the county treasurer's office indicates that no reports nor revenues have been received from the Trial Magistrates office in the Town of Westernport since April of 1961. All magistrates should be required to file reports monthly and remit to the county treasurer's office all funds collected for the county, Rogers recommended.

An unexpended balance of $922,500 was noted at the end of the fiscal year June 30, 1962, according to Rogers' audit. It was pointed out that $212,000 in cigaret tax monies received from the state and not used is reflected in this total.

Rogers said an analysis of the current year's report and the report of the previous year will show that during the current year revenues from general property taxes declined and that funds from state shared revenues and certain other sources reflected and increase as did expenditures, Rogers stated.

Opening lead: Ten of ◇ South opened the bidding with one spade and North chose to temporize with a simple one round forcing bid of two clubs. South's second call was a bid of two hearts and now North resorted to an artificial bid of three diamonds, intending to show his spade support on the next round. On this display of strength, South felt justified in making a slam try of his own by bidding five diamonds to show the king of that suit. At this moment, North felt it was high time to pull himself together and bid a slam.

West opened the ten of diamonds which was covered in turn by the jack, queen, and king. Declarer crossed over to dummy with the ace of diamonds in order to take a spade finesse. The queen lost to West's king, and when South regained the lead he played the ace of trumps. East was revealed to have another trump trick and even tho declarer subsequently guessed the location of the queen of hearts, his contract was down by one.

In the post-mortem, it was readily established that, had South played the ace of trumps from his hand instead of finessing, he could have restricted his losses in the suit to one trick. There was some question as to which was the proper play.

It is our opinion that declarer overlooked the most important feature of the hand. Who had the queen of hearts? If South can successfully determine the location of this card, he can afford to make a safety play in trumps by cashing the ace of spades intending to give up a trick in the suit. If he misguesses, however, and and loses a trick to the heart queen, he must go all out in an effort to pick up the entire spade suit.

At trick two, he should lead the jack of hearts from his hand. If he guesses to play West for the missing honor in the suit, he will be well on his way. The next step is to play the ace of spades. As it develops, the king drops and the rest is routine. If both opponents follow with small trumps, however, South merely crosses over to dummy with the ace of diamonds and leads a small spade toward his queen. This enables him to restrict his losses in the trump suit to one trick should East have the king where it was originally finessable.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Right now if the Mirisch brothers think they are seeing pink elephants instead of a "pink panther," you can hardly blame them. First they had Ava Gardner all but signed, but when her demands to play "Pink Panther" got too much, they hired Capucine instead.

Next, Peter Ustinov walked out on the picture shooting in Rome, and Peter Sellers went in. Over last weekend, Kay Thompson, portraying a kidd of Elsa Maxwell-Perle Mesta role, flipped her wig, left the set and Brena de Banzie is now playing the hostess with the mostest, or thereabouts.

So far, producer-director Blake Edwards is sticking, but I don't guarantee this for more than two editions in advance.

Laurence Harvey was in and out of Hollywood just like that. He came to California to see Joan Cohn and to talk over some business with United Artists about "ceremony" which he will film in Spain.

Larry has signed Sarah Mills, who is such a success in Sir Laurrence Olivier's "Term of Trial." She will be the leading lady in "Ceremony" which concerns the final 24 hours in the life of a condemned man.

Harvey starts work on this intense drama next month and will have 12 weeks to complete it before he begins "Of Human Bondage."

It looks as though we have a new rebel without any cause at all in our midst. His name is Richard Harris, who has sounded off plenty about Marlon Brando, with whom he co-starred in "Mutiny on the Bounty."

The only trouble with being a rebel, as Brando himself could tell Harris, is that you have got to be very, very good to get away with biting the hand that pays you.

Even though many of the people who worked in Tahiti on "Mutiny" told me that Harris" diatribes against Brando were false, I, like a lot of other people in Hollywood, did listen to them. But now when I get word from Madrid that Harris is kicking over the traces on "The Fall of the Roman Empire" I'm beginning to wonder.

Says Mr. H.: "I don't care about money but my part is mucked up and I'm not going to play it as is. When I read the original, it was a marvelous part but after my trouble with "Mutiny' I feel I must be protexted. If they go back to the original script of "Fall of the Roman Empire' I'll play it. Now it's up to Mr. Broston."

Warner Bros. and the now-defunct RKO Stuio are facing an action which will be heard in several New York courts, being brought by Norman Mailer, author of "The Naked and the Dead". The movie started out as an RKO production but was finally released by Warners in 1956.

Mailer, whose book has sold more than 2,000,000 copies in paperback editions, charges that in his original contract, the movie rights were to have reverted back to him if the script was not filmed before a given time had expired, and that it was filmed after that stipulated date.

Has Brigitte Bardot filed for divorce against Jacques Charrier? Is she taking instructions in Judaism so that she can marry Sammy Frey?

That's what all Paris believes, and as evidence, the French are buzzing about the fiery appearance Brigitte made as a witness for Frey in his suit against "Ici Paris", the magazine which ran an article trying to prove Sammy was "terrorizing" Mlle. Bardot. The story implied that he had persuaded BB to live in seclusion and that she kept a ferocious dog to scare off reporters and photographers.

"It is all untrue. The whole article is a tissue of lies," said the lady—and she ought to know.

Back in the '30's when A. C. Lyles was a messenger boy at Paramount—but very ambitious, Richard Allen, than a top star promised him that if he ever became a producer, he would work for him.

Living up to his promise, Dick is making a one-day appearance as a colonel in "Atton", which Lyle is currently producing at MGM, which stars Rory Calhoun and Bill Bendix.

Twenty-five years ago in the Academy Award winning movie "Boys' Town," Mickey Rooney, its star, won his greatest applause for a very dramatic scene he played with a baby in his arms. The baby's name was Bobs Watson. A few days ago, Bobs Watson, tall, handsome and 25, was signed for a continuing role in MGM's new TV series "The Human Comedy."

And guess who plays the lead in this? No, not Mickey Rooney. Mickey played the lead in the movie version of "Human Comedy," but in the TV series, Tim Rooney, Mickey's son, now 15, plays his dad's old role. Bobs Watson plays a milkman.

"And one crack out of you," says Bobs to Tim, "and I'll carry you out of my scenes."

Considering that she won the Tony award for the best star performance with Art Carney in "Take Her, She's Mine," Elizabeth Ashley slipped into town very quietly. This charming 23-year-old southern girl from Baton Rouge played the lead with Vince Edwards in a "Ben Casey" TV show. But look for her to be in motion pictures because Elizabeth caught the attention of Walter Mirisch who is talking a multiple picture deal with her.

Elizabeth would like to remain in Hollywood for the best of reasons. Her bridegroom of two months, actor James Farentino, is headquartered here doing "Alfred Hitchcock" and "Empire" TV shows.

Woman Saves Man In Fire

A Cresaptown woman, veteran member of the community's volunteer fire department auxiliary, has been informed that an elderly man that she saved from being burned to death is recuperating.

Mrs. Rose Kane was visiting her daughter, Mrs. Mary Catherine Hulings, two weeks ago at 867 West Lombard Street, Baltimore.

Her daughter had her hip and pelvis fractured when struck by a car on a downtown Baltimore street.

Mrs. Kane said that on November 15 while looking out of the apartment window smoke began to appear from a room directly across the street.

She rushed to the residence of George Tanner, 72, at 864 West Lombard Street and found the elderly man sitting in a chair that was burning. His clothes were on fire. Using a rug, she extinguished the flames.

The daughter of the man, Mrs. Helen Overman, called the fire department but using several buckets of water Mrs. Kane had the fire out by the time the firemen arrived.

TUNIS (UPI) — The death toll in flash floods in southern Tunisia rose to at least 50 Tuesday with countless injured and missing and thousands homeless, official sources reported. JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI) — The Israeli Supreme Court Tuesday increased to 15 years the 10-year spy sentence imposed on Israel Beer, military commentator and historian. County's Financial Condition Termed 'Very Fine' By Auditor

James P. Rogers, certified public accountant and Mrs. Johanna N. Sills, county auditor, appeared before the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday to submit the audit for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1962.

Rogers told the board that the county is in a "very fine financial condition." He listed uncollected taxes of $79,715.85 from the last fiscal year.

The capital assets of the county totaled $14,771,693.52 and all fixed assets were checked by reference to the original data. The cost of new highway construction was furnished by the Roads Department.

Long term bonded indebtedness of the county was listed at $7,130,460.50 and during the current year a total of $634,404.21 in principal and $161,854.67 in interest was paid. During the current year the county realized $52,847.51 from short term investment of idle tax monies, Rogers stated.

Rogers' audit shows that the records of the county treasurer's office indicates that no reports nor revenues have been received from the Trial Magistrates office in the Town of Westernport since April of 1961. All magistrates should be required to file reports monthly and remit to the county treasurer's office all funds collected for the county, Rogers recommended.

An unexpended balance of $922,500 was noted at the end of the fiscal year June 30, 1962, according to Rogers' audit. It was pointed out that $212,000 in cigaret tax monies received from the state and not used is reflected in this total.

Rogers said an analysis of the current year's report and the report of the previous year will show that during the current year revenues from general property taxes declined and that funds from state shared revenues and certain other sources reflected and increase as did expenditures, Rogers stated.

Trucker Killed In Freak Mishap At Flintstone

Rig Topples Over On R. E. Duckworth

A local tractor-trailer driver was killed last night in a freak accident in Flintstone on old Route 40.

The victim was identified as Raymond Eugene Duckworth, about 30, of 209 North Mechanic Street, a driver for McLaughlin Transfer, Flintstone.

State Police, who investigated the accident about 8:30 p.m., said Duckworth was driving the tractor-trailer which was loaded with straw.

He stopped on the left side of the highway under a street light in front of the McLaughlin home to check on the load and "boom it down," said police.

While he was standing near the tractor-trailer the brakes apparently let go and the rig began to drift. Duckworth ran along the side of the vehicle in an attempt to get in the cab to bring the rig under control.

However the truck drifted into a nearby ditch and toppled over on the victim.

The load of straw was being taken to Washington, according to Tfc. George Wachter and Trooper Paul Fiorita.

The body was taken to the Hafer Funeral Home.

In view of the accident, State Police remind motorists not to attempt to bring a car under control should they be out of the vehicle which drifts away due to brake failure.

AT ABL TODAY—Rear Admiral Wellington T. Hines, deputy chief of the Bureau of Naval Weapons, will inspect facilities at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory today, and will speak to the Allegany Section of the American Rocket Society at 7:30 p. m. today at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Kelly Employe Dies In Crash Near Denver

Richard Bender, 29, Grantsville Native

A former resident of Grantsville who was an employe of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company and promoted the sale of their product in the northwest portion of the United States was killed Monday night in a one-car accident near Denver, Colo.

The body of Richard Bender, 29, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Bender, Grantsville, will be returned to the Newman Funeral Home for funeral arrangements and burial.

The victim's father, who is a prominent auto dealer in Grantsville, flew to Denver yesterday.

His son, who had been employed with Kelly for several years, formerly worked for the firm in the Washington-Virginia area before being transferred to Albany, N.Y. and later to the northwest this past June.

The victim attended high school in Grantsville and Charlotte Hall Academy in Southern Maryland and graduated from Franklin and Marshall College in Lancaster, Pa., where he majored in business management.

Prior to becoming an employe of the tire company he had worked for an oil firm.

Besides his parents he is survived by his wife, the former Miss Shirley Kamp of Grantsville, and two sons.

Also surviving are four brothers, Charles C., Thomas O., and William D. Bender, all of Grantsville; Joseph F. Bender, with the Army in Germany and a sister, Miss Ann Bender, who is a student at Northern High.

Details of the accident were not learned yesterday.

Monarch Foods Building Will Be Remodeled

Front Unit Was Old Revere House

The Monarch Finer Foods Division of Consolidated Foods Corporation is planning to remodel its quarters at 184 Baltimore Street.

The bulk of the remodeling will be to the oldest of three sections of the buildings, the old Revere House, one of the city's historical landmarks.

Staffers of the George F. Hazelwood Company, which has been selected to do the work, were busy yesterday checking the structure, according to John R. Watson, local manager of the wholesale grocery firm.

He said tentative plans call for taking off one or possibly two of the top stories of the front section which once housed the Revere House.

Some remodeling is planned to the interior of the building to make it more usable for warehouse purposes.

Two brick warehouse additions have been added to the original hotel section over the years.

Mr. Watson said the remodeling project will not interfere with the operation of the firm and that the contractor has advised the work will take from two to three months.

Barriers have been placed at the alley on the west side of the building where a bulge has developed in the original building.

For many years, the building was the headquarters of the Kenneweg Company, which was established here in 1890 and occupied the historic building at 184 Baltimore Street from 1894 until it liquidated about eight years ago.

A plaque on the front of the building notes its part in the capture of Generals B. F. Kelly and George Crook on the night of February 21-22, 1865.

For many years, the Revere House was one of the famous hotels located along the National Highway.

It was a florishing concern back in 1842, when the first railroad train to reach Cumberland arrived over the B & O tracks.

An old photograph shows the glory of the hotel, with the name "Revere House" in large raised letters between the third and fourth stories. The first B & O depot was at that time standing beside it. The quaint station was used by the railroad until the present Queen City Hotel and station was built in 1853.

The companion hotel, the Windsor Hotel, known as the Barnum House at the time of the capture of the Civil War generals, was demolished several years ago and the site is now used as a parking lot.

Authority Financing Discussed

The financing of the proposed Allegany County Sewage Authority was discussed yesterday by William A. Douglas, chairman of the City-County Water-Sewage Commission and Arthur B. Gibson, financial consultant for the City of Cumberland.

Much of the discussion dealt with the type of bonds — revenue or general obligation — which would best serve the needs of the authority proposed by the commission to handle the county's water and sewage facilities.

Mr. Gibson pointed out that the City of Cumberland has backed all its bonds with the full faith and credit of the city, including such self-supporting projects as the Water Department and the sewage treatment plant.

The additional security offered by the full backing of the city, he said, generally secures a lower interest rate.

The Water Department bonds, he added, are generally considered better securities because they bear the full faith and credit of the city.

Both water and sewer plant obligations are payable first from revenues of the departments and then from general taxation if revenues should ever be insufficient to meet bond payments.

Mr. Gibson said either type of bond issued by the authority would be tax free.

In many cases, he said, revenue bonds sell as well as full faith and credit obligations, but it is almost impossible to tell until complete studies of anticipated revenues are prepared.

Equity Suit Filed

Betty Colleen Rosley yesterday filed an equity suit in Allegany County Circuit Court against Albert Rosley Jr.

Weatherholt Appointed To Md. Committee

Trial Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt has been appointed to an 11-member organizational committee for the Conference of Trial Magistrates by Chief Judge Frederick W. Brune of the Court of Appeals.

Mr. Weatherholt will serve with representatives of nine other counties and Baltimore City. Robert J. Romadka of Baltimore County is chairman.

Chief Judge Brune named the committee as a result of a resolution adopted at the Conference of Trial Magistrates which Gov. J. Millard Tawes called at Baltimore October 26.

The conference was called as a first step toward standardizing procedures of Maryland magistrates' courts and toward upgrading the status of the courts.

Support for these aims was voiced at the conference by judges of all eight judicial circuits in the state, and the organizational committee will work toward these ends.

Mr. Weatherholt, a Cumberland newspaperman, has been a trial magistrate by appointment of Gov. Tawes since May 1959, and now is serving his second two-year term. He also is second vice president and a member of the board of directors of the Trial Magistrates Association of Maryland Inc.

Tests Scheduled

Allegany County's Civil Service Commission will give two examinations at 7:30 o'clock tonight at Fort Hill High School.

Mrs. Joan S. Burke, commission secretary, said that some 15 persons have been invited to take the secretary II test and 20 the test for tax clerk.

New Md. Legislators Briefed On Procedures

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Maryland legislators nearly half of them new, met Tuesday for a briefing on legislative procedures and some politicking for leadership posts in advance of the 1963 General Assembly.

Gov. Tawes, who welcome them to Annapolis, told them the 90-day session which convenes Jan. 2 will be perhaps the most important in their four-year term.

"What we accomplish, or fail to accomplish, in these halls . . . in all probability will be reflected throughout our term," he said.

"It is the session at which we may be expected to lay the groundwork for carrying out our mandate (from the 1962 general election)."

Tawes told the lawmakers that both he and they have a mandate "to carry on the government of this state as skillfully as possible, as effectively as possible, as economically as possible for the next four years."

John S. Shriver, director of the state's Fiscal Research Bureau, told them what they can and cannot do in term of cutting or adding to the governor's budget.

Their toughest problem, he said, will be "to satisfy the very vocal demands of certain dedicated groups who insist that more money be spent and at the same time satisfy the taxpayer that you have a due respect for his pocketbook and do not insert your fingers too deeply therein."

Dr. Carl N. Everstine, director of the Department of Legislative Reference, reviewed for them legislative processes since the days of King John and the Magna Carta to the present.

He paused to take a jab at the Maryland Court of Appeals for what Everstine said was a usurpation of legislative authority when it ordered that the legislature reapportion its House of Delegates.

He called the court action, which resulted in 19 more seats for suburban areas, "an unwarranted and undemocratic exercise of power."

Legislative aides told the lawmakers what bills looked like, how they evolved, and even where to find restrooms in the State House.

There was almost as much activity outside the House chamber as in, as veteran legislators campaigned actively for support in the contest for leadership posts next January.

Del. A. Gordon Boone, D-Balto County, who may be the next speaker of the House, was on hand along with his principal opponent, Del. E. Homer White Jr. of Wicomico.

Del. Marvin Mandel of Baltimore City and Del. W. Dale Hess of Harford sought support for the post of majority floor leader.

Republican, who have increased their minorities to 7 of the 29 senators and 25 of the 142 House members, also were busy with sideline politicking.

Sen. Gilbert Gude, R-Montgomery, is waging a campaign against veteran Harry T. Phoebus of Somerset for Senate minority leader. Sens. George R. Hughes Jr., R-Allegany, and Joseph W. Alton Jr., R-Anne Arundel, also may be in the picture before it clears.

Newly elected Del. J. Glenn Beall Jr., R-Allegany, son of Maryland's Republican U. S. senator, is making an active bid for House minority leader against Del. Lester Reed, R-Allegany, who now holds the post.

Two of the majority candidates for president of the Senate, Fred Malkus of Dorchester and H. Winship Wheatley Jr., of Prince Georges, were not present. But two other candidates were—Sen. James A. Pine, D-Balto County, and Sen. William S. James, D-Harford.

All but about 30 of the 171 newly elected assembly members attended the all-day session.

Shinnamon Seen Heading County Board

Louis V. Shinnamon of LaVale, the lone incumbent county commissioner, is expected to become president of the Board of County Commissioners when he is joined by two other Republicans as the new board organizes next Tuesday.

Besides being an incumbent, Mr. Shinnamon gained the distinction November 6 of polling more votes than anyone else in the county commissioners' contests. He received 13,856 to 13,269 for Robert Little Ebert of Cumberland and 12,963 for Russell Carder of Shaft. The nearest Democrat was John J. Long with 11,265.

However, leading the ticket has not always been assurance of becoming president of the board. Four years ago John J. Rowan, a Democrat, was third but gained the presidency after nominating himself and getting the vote of Republican William A. Wilson. Democrat John T. Mason was high man in the voting four years ago.

Eight years ago William H. Lemmert was third in the general election but was the choice of his associates, James Orr, to become the board president. C. N. "Jerry" Wilkinson was the leading vote getter in the 1954 election.

Gorman E. Getty, who served as county attorney from 1950 until 1958, is expected to become county attorney once again next week.

However, it is understood that no decision has been reached on the new tax collector. It had been rumored that a member of the Republican State Central Committee had been selected for the job.

J. Wallace Close, committee chairman, said the matter of a new county tax collector was to have been discussed by the GOP committee last night but there was no assurance that a definite recommendation had been reached.

Many GOP sources indicate there is no need for hurry in selection as tax collector as the successor to William B. Orndorff will not take office until next April 2.

City Staffers Take Red Tape Cutting Trip

Seek Details Of Federal Program

In a red tape cutting expedition, three city officials went to Philadelphia yesterday to find out what federal funds might be available here under the Federal Accelerated Public Works Program.

Making the trip were Mayor Earl D. Chaney, City Attorney Hugh A. McMullen and City Engineer C. R. Nuzum.

The purpose of the trip, City Hall staffers said, was to learn details of the program from the Community Facilities Division of the Housing and Home Finance Agency and to find out what projects planned by the city would qualify for matching funds.

City officials were advised recently that Cumberland would be eligible for 50-50 matching funds under the Accelerated Public Works Program, since Cumberland is listed as a redevelopment area.

A lot of other cities are taking advantage of the program, according to Mrs. Lucile Roeder, street commissioner.

She said the current issue of the American Municipal League bulletin reported that over 420 projects have been approved for public works grants during the first two weeks of November under the accelerated public works plan.

Damage Suits Filed In Court; Two Settled

A number of damage suits were filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court including two in which settlements also were filed.

The settled suits were brought by Charles William Upperman and Katherine Louise Upperman, his wife, of Bloomington, in behalf of their children who were injured while passengers in an automobile involved in a collision on State Route 36.

The children were Ruby Delores Ann Upperman and Brenda Marie Upperman. Defendants in both cases were Marilyn C. Miller and Marvin Luther Miller, both of Barton. The children were passengers in a car owned by Marvin and driven by Marilyn which struck a utility pole October 6, 1961.

Each case was settled for $300. The settlements were signed by Milton Gerson as attorney for the plaintiffs and C. William Gilchrist as attorney for the defendants.

Two other cases filed yesterday involved a collision of January 19, 1961, on the Oldtown Road about one mile east of the city. The suits were filed by Donald E. Monnett, RFD 4, and Ethel J. Monnett, his wife. Defendants in both cases are the Liberty Milk Company, Wayne Duckworth, 217 Glenn Street; Marguerite Willison, trading as Willison Oil Company, RFD 2, Baltimore Pike, and Clinton Broadwater.

The Monnetts contend that his automobile was badly damaged and she was injured severely in an accident. They contend that Mr. Bonnett applied his brakes to keep from hitting a milk truck driven by Mr. Duckworth and as a result were struck from behind by the oil truck operated by Mr. Broadwater.

Another damage suit was brought by William Naill, Williams Road, against Leonard Oliver Bible, RFD 4. Mr. Naill is suing for injuries he allegedly sustained May 18 while a passenger in an automobile operated by Paul D. Sites. He contends that Mr. Bible's car, traveling in the opposite direction on Uhl Highway, crossed the center line and struck Mr. Sites' car headon.

Reeves Motor Company, Inc., Westernport, brought another suit against Cumberland Cement and Supply Company, 419 North Centre Street, and Harry Long, Mt. Savage.

This suit asserts that Mr. Long was driving a Cumberland Cement and Supply Company dump truck which struck two parked cars owned by the plaintiff along State Route 135 last February 2.

Trucker Killed In Freak Mishap At Flintstone

Rig Topples Over On R. E. Duckworth

A local tractor-trailer driver was killed last night in a freak accident in Flintstone on old Route 40.

The victim was identified as Raymond Eugene Duckworth, about 30, of 209 North Mechanic Street, a driver for McLaughlin Transfer, Flintstone.

State Police, who investigated the accident about 8:30 p.m., said Duckworth was driving the tractor-trailer which was loaded with straw.

He stopped on the left side of the highway under a street light in front of the McLaughlin home to check on the load and "boom it down," said police.

While he was standing near the tractor-trailer the brakes apparently let go and the rig began to drift. Duckworth ran along the side of the vehicle in an attempt to get in the cab to bring the rig under control.

However the truck drifted into a nearby ditch and toppled over on the victim.

The load of straw was being taken to Washington, according to Tfc. George Wachter and Trooper Paul Fiorita.

The body was taken to the Hafer Funeral Home.

In view of the accident, State Police remind motorists not to attempt to bring a car under control should they be out of the vehicle which drifts away due to brake failure.

AT ABL TODAY—Rear Admiral Wellington T. Hines, deputy chief of the Bureau of Naval Weapons, will inspect facilities at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory today, and will speak to the Allegany Section of the American Rocket Society at 7:30 p. m. today at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Kelly Employe Dies In Crash Near Denver

Richard Bender, 29, Grantsville Native

A former resident of Grantsville who was an employe of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company and promoted the sale of their product in the northwest portion of the United States was killed Monday night in a one-car accident near Denver, Colo.

The body of Richard Bender, 29, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Bender, Grantsville, will be returned to the Newman Funeral Home for funeral arrangements and burial.

The victim's father, who is a prominent auto dealer in Grantsville, flew to Denver yesterday.

His son, who had been employed with Kelly for several years, formerly worked for the firm in the Washington-Virginia area before being transferred to Albany, N.Y. and later to the northwest this past June.

The victim attended high school in Grantsville and Charlotte Hall Academy in Southern Maryland and graduated from Franklin and Marshall College in Lancaster, Pa., where he majored in business management.

Prior to becoming an employe of the tire company he had worked for an oil firm.

Besides his parents he is survived by his wife, the former Miss Shirley Kamp of Grantsville, and two sons.

Also surviving are four brothers, Charles C., Thomas O., and William D. Bender, all of Grantsville; Joseph F. Bender, with the Army in Germany and a sister, Miss Ann Bender, who is a student at Northern High.

Details of the accident were not learned yesterday.

Monarch Foods Building Will Be Remodeled

Front Unit Was Old Revere House

The Monarch Finer Foods Division of Consolidated Foods Corporation is planning to remodel its quarters at 184 Baltimore Street.

The bulk of the remodeling will be to the oldest of three sections of the buildings, the old Revere House, one of the city's historical landmarks.

Staffers of the George F. Hazelwood Company, which has been selected to do the work, were busy yesterday checking the structure, according to John R. Watson, local manager of the wholesale grocery firm.

He said tentative plans call for taking off one or possibly two of the top stories of the front section which once housed the Revere House.

Some remodeling is planned to the interior of the building to make it more usable for warehouse purposes.

Two brick warehouse additions have been added to the original hotel section over the years.

Mr. Watson said the remodeling project will not interfere with the operation of the firm and that the contractor has advised the work will take from two to three months.

Barriers have been placed at the alley on the west side of the building where a bulge has developed in the original building.

For many years, the building was the headquarters of the Kenneweg Company, which was established here in 1890 and occupied the historic building at 184 Baltimore Street from 1894 until it liquidated about eight years ago.

A plaque on the front of the building notes its part in the capture of Generals B. F. Kelly and George Crook on the night of February 21-22, 1865.

For many years, the Revere House was one of the famous hotels located along the National Highway.

It was a florishing concern back in 1842, when the first railroad train to reach Cumberland arrived over the B & O tracks.

An old photograph shows the glory of the hotel, with the name "Revere House" in large raised letters between the third and fourth stories. The first B & O depot was at that time standing beside it. The quaint station was used by the railroad until the present Queen City Hotel and station was built in 1853.

The companion hotel, the Windsor Hotel, known as the Barnum House at the time of the capture of the Civil War generals, was demolished several years ago and the site is now used as a parking lot.

City Staffers Take Red Tape Cutting Trip

Seek Details Of Federal Program

In a red tape cutting expedition, three city officials went to Philadelphia yesterday to find out what federal funds might be available here under the Federal Accelerated Public Works Program.

Making the trip were Mayor Earl D. Chaney, City Attorney Hugh A. McMullen and City Engineer C. R. Nuzum.

The purpose of the trip, City Hall staffers said, was to learn details of the program from the Community Facilities Division of the Housing and Home Finance Agency and to find out what projects planned by the city would qualify for matching funds.

City officials were advised recently that Cumberland would be eligible for 50-50 matching funds under the Accelerated Public Works Program, since Cumberland is listed as a redevelopment area.

A lot of other cities are taking advantage of the program, according to Mrs. Lucile Roeder, street commissioner.

She said the current issue of the American Municipal League bulletin reported that over 420 projects have been approved for public works grants during the first two weeks of November under the accelerated public works plan.

Authority Financing Discussed

The financing of the proposed Allegany County Sewage Authority was discussed yesterday by William A. Douglas, chairman of the City-County Water-Sewage Commission and Arthur B. Gibson, financial consultant for the City of Cumberland.

Much of the discussion dealt with the type of bonds — revenue or general obligation — which would best serve the needs of the authority proposed by the commission to handle the county's water and sewage facilities.

Mr. Gibson pointed out that the City of Cumberland has backed all its bonds with the full faith and credit of the city, including such self-supporting projects as the Water Department and the sewage treatment plant.

The additional security offered by the full backing of the city, he said, generally secures a lower interest rate.

The Water Department bonds, he added, are generally considered better securities because they bear the full faith and credit of the city.

Both water and sewer plant obligations are payable first from revenues of the departments and then from general taxation if revenues should ever be insufficient to meet bond payments.

Mr. Gibson said either type of bond issued by the authority would be tax free.

In many cases, he said, revenue bonds sell as well as full faith and credit obligations, but it is almost impossible to tell until complete studies of anticipated revenues are prepared.

Weatherholt Appointed To Md. Committee

Trial Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt has been appointed to an 11-member organizational committee for the Conference of Trial Magistrates by Chief Judge Frederick W. Brune of the Court of Appeals.

Mr. Weatherholt will serve with representatives of nine other counties and Baltimore City. Robert J. Romadka of Baltimore County is chairman.

Chief Judge Brune named the committee as a result of a resolution adopted at the Conference of Trial Magistrates which Gov. J. Millard Tawes called at Baltimore October 26.

The conference was called as a first step toward standardizing procedures of Maryland magistrates' courts and toward upgrading the status of the courts.

Support for these aims was voiced at the conference by judges of all eight judicial circuits in the state, and the organizational committee will work toward these ends.

Mr. Weatherholt, a Cumberland newspaperman, has been a trial magistrate by appointment of Gov. Tawes since May 1959, and now is serving his second two-year term. He also is second vice president and a member of the board of directors of the Trial Magistrates Association of Maryland Inc.

Tests Scheduled

Allegany County's Civil Service Commission will give two examinations at 7:30 o'clock tonight at Fort Hill High School.

Mrs. Joan S. Burke, commission secretary, said that some 15 persons have been invited to take the secretary II test and 20 the test for tax clerk.

New Md. Legislators Briefed On Procedures

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Maryland legislators nearly half of them new, met Tuesday for a briefing on legislative procedures and some politicking for leadership posts in advance of the 1963 General Assembly.

Gov. Tawes, who welcome them to Annapolis, told them the 90-day session which convenes Jan. 2 will be perhaps the most important in their four-year term.

"What we accomplish, or fail to accomplish, in these halls . . . in all probability will be reflected throughout our term," he said.

"It is the session at which we may be expected to lay the groundwork for carrying out our mandate (from the 1962 general election)."

Tawes told the lawmakers that both he and they have a mandate "to carry on the government of this state as skillfully as possible, as effectively as possible, as economically as possible for the next four years."

John S. Shriver, director of the state's Fiscal Research Bureau, told them what they can and cannot do in term of cutting or adding to the governor's budget.

Their toughest problem, he said, will be "to satisfy the very vocal demands of certain dedicated groups who insist that more money be spent and at the same time satisfy the taxpayer that you have a due respect for his pocketbook and do not insert your fingers too deeply therein."

Dr. Carl N. Everstine, director of the Department of Legislative Reference, reviewed for them legislative processes since the days of King John and the Magna Carta to the present.

He paused to take a jab at the Maryland Court of Appeals for what Everstine said was a usurpation of legislative authority when it ordered that the legislature reapportion its House of Delegates.

He called the court action, which resulted in 19 more seats for suburban areas, "an unwarranted and undemocratic exercise of power."

Legislative aides told the lawmakers what bills looked like, how they evolved, and even where to find restrooms in the State House.

There was almost as much activity outside the House chamber as in, as veteran legislators campaigned actively for support in the contest for leadership posts next January.

Del. A. Gordon Boone, D-Balto County, who may be the next speaker of the House, was on hand along with his principal opponent, Del. E. Homer White Jr. of Wicomico.

Del. Marvin Mandel of Baltimore City and Del. W. Dale Hess of Harford sought support for the post of majority floor leader.

Republican, who have increased their minorities to 7 of the 29 senators and 25 of the 142 House members, also were busy with sideline politicking.

Sen. Gilbert Gude, R-Montgomery, is waging a campaign against veteran Harry T. Phoebus of Somerset for Senate minority leader. Sens. George R. Hughes Jr., R-Allegany, and Joseph W. Alton Jr., R-Anne Arundel, also may be in the picture before it clears.

Newly elected Del. J. Glenn Beall Jr., R-Allegany, son of Maryland's Republican U. S. senator, is making an active bid for House minority leader against Del. Lester Reed, R-Allegany, who now holds the post.

Two of the majority candidates for president of the Senate, Fred Malkus of Dorchester and H. Winship Wheatley Jr., of Prince Georges, were not present. But two other candidates were—Sen. James A. Pine, D-Balto County, and Sen. William S. James, D-Harford.

All but about 30 of the 171 newly elected assembly members attended the all-day session.

Shinnamon Seen Heading County Board

Louis V. Shinnamon of LaVale, the lone incumbent county commissioner, is expected to become president of the Board of County Commissioners when he is joined by two other Republicans as the new board organizes next Tuesday.

Besides being an incumbent, Mr. Shinnamon gained the distinction November 6 of polling more votes than anyone else in the county commissioners' contests. He received 13,856 to 13,269 for Robert Little Ebert of Cumberland and 12,963 for Russell Carder of Shaft. The nearest Democrat was John J. Long with 11,265.

However, leading the ticket has not always been assurance of becoming president of the board. Four years ago John J. Rowan, a Democrat, was third but gained the presidency after nominating himself and getting the vote of Republican William A. Wilson. Democrat John T. Mason was high man in the voting four years ago.

Eight years ago William H. Lemmert was third in the general election but was the choice of his associates, James Orr, to become the board president. C. N. "Jerry" Wilkinson was the leading vote getter in the 1954 election.

Gorman E. Getty, who served as county attorney from 1950 until 1958, is expected to become county attorney once again next week.

However, it is understood that no decision has been reached on the new tax collector. It had been rumored that a member of the Republican State Central Committee had been selected for the job.

J. Wallace Close, committee chairman, said the matter of a new county tax collector was to have been discussed by the GOP committee last night but there was no assurance that a definite recommendation had been reached.

Many GOP sources indicate there is no need for hurry in selection as tax collector as the successor to William B. Orndorff will not take office until next April 2.

Damage Suits Filed In Court; Two Settled

A number of damage suits were filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court including two in which settlements also were filed.

The settled suits were brought by Charles William Upperman and Katherine Louise Upperman, his wife, of Bloomington, in behalf of their children who were injured while passengers in an automobile involved in a collision on State Route 36.

The children were Ruby Delores Ann Upperman and Brenda Marie Upperman. Defendants in both cases were Marilyn C. Miller and Marvin Luther Miller, both of Barton. The children were passengers in a car owned by Marvin and driven by Marilyn which struck a utility pole October 6, 1961.

Each case was settled for $300. The settlements were signed by Milton Gerson as attorney for the plaintiffs and C. William Gilchrist as attorney for the defendants.

Two other cases filed yesterday involved a collision of January 19, 1961, on the Oldtown Road about one mile east of the city. The suits were filed by Donald E. Monnett, RFD 4, and Ethel J. Monnett, his wife. Defendants in both cases are the Liberty Milk Company, Wayne Duckworth, 217 Glenn Street; Marguerite Willison, trading as Willison Oil Company, RFD 2, Baltimore Pike, and Clinton Broadwater.

The Monnetts contend that his automobile was badly damaged and she was injured severely in an accident. They contend that Mr. Bonnett applied his brakes to keep from hitting a milk truck driven by Mr. Duckworth and as a result were struck from behind by the oil truck operated by Mr. Broadwater.

Another damage suit was brought by William Naill, Williams Road, against Leonard Oliver Bible, RFD 4. Mr. Naill is suing for injuries he allegedly sustained May 18 while a passenger in an automobile operated by Paul D. Sites. He contends that Mr. Bible's car, traveling in the opposite direction on Uhl Highway, crossed the center line and struck Mr. Sites' car headon.

Reeves Motor Company, Inc., Westernport, brought another suit against Cumberland Cement and Supply Company, 419 North Centre Street, and Harry Long, Mt. Savage.

This suit asserts that Mr. Long was driving a Cumberland Cement and Supply Company dump truck which struck two parked cars owned by the plaintiff along State Route 135 last February 2.
